CESSPOOL GAS KILLS 4 HERE

PLACED IN STRETCHER. Ambulance attendants and Fireman Lester Dray place the body of Burton Richards on a stretcher for a fast trip to City Hospital where the sanitary service operator was pronounced dead from sewer gas in the Henry Ave. cesspool tragedy that claimed three others, including a city firemen and a neighborhood resident.

'KEYHOLE' TO DEATH. Hardly two feet wide is the opening to the deep cesspool in which four died here Thursday night. A cement slab rests on the crown of the 13-foot-deep sewage container, the entry to which is so narrow firemen were unable to use oxygen masks in rescue attempts. 3 Lose Lives In Attempt To Rescue Youth

By Byron Eells

The lives of two sanitary workers and a brave neighborhood resident were snuffed out almost instantly Thursday night by sewer gas fumes from a cesspool being cleaned at a Henry Ave. home, and a heroic city fireman, who also attempted their rescue after the three toppled into the 13-foot-deep pit, died three hours later in City Hospital from the effects of the poisonous gas.

Killed in the mass tragedy were:

Burton Richards, 44, of Cannons Mill, owner of the Richards Sanitary Service; Lawrence D. Miller, 17, of Glenmoor, who was aiding Mr. Richards; James E. Sherwood, 51, of 2001 St. Clair Ave., an employe of the Ohio Power Co., who had gone to the scene from his nearby home with his 8-year-old son, and Fireman Richard J. Plumley, 28, of 433 Prospect St., a veteran of four years on the department, who died at 11:35 p. m. despite efforts by firemen and City Hospital workers to save his life.

Another fireman was admitted and a city police officer and fireman were treated at the hospital while five additional firemen, who had inhaled the poisonous fumes, were treated later at the Osteopathic Hospital.

Patrolman Kenneth H. Mooney, who aided in the vain rescue attempt, was treated for a laceration of a hand

Tries To Rope Victim

Fireman Clarence Snediker, 36, lowered into the pit on a rope saddle to fasten a rope around the leg of one of the victims, also was treated at the hospital and then ordered to go home for bedrest.

Examined as a precautionary measure at the Osteopathic Hospital were Chief Charles Bryan and Firemen Russell Dray, Dolph Knott, also sent home, Ralph Chapman and Gerald Goodballet, acting assistant chief during the vacation of Asst. Chief Alfred Van Dyne.

The tragic story, which stunned the city, started when Mr. Richards and young Miller went to the home of Robert T. Birbeck on Henry Ave. near the city standpipes to clean out the cesspool.

Ironically, Mr. Miller was only a part-time employe and had been called by Mr. Richards because a regular worker had the day off.

Crawls Down Ladder

Because of trouble, the Glenmoor youth and Mr. Richards put a ladder into the cesspool and Mr. Miller crawled down it. At this point, conjecture remains on whether the youth was going to rod out tree roots clogging the sewer runoff from the house or whether the hose had become jammed and he hoped to loosen it.

Soblen's Return Scheduled Today

LONDON (AP) — The British government ordered Israel's El Al airline today to take Dr. Robert Soblen to the United States. Two U.S. marshals stood by to escort the fugitive spy home to start a life term for espionage.

The formal order was delivered to the airline this morning. Its next flight to New York leaves tonight (3 p.m. Eastern Standard Time).

A high government source in Jerusalem said the Israeli government was shocked at the British government's demand that the El Al airline fly the 61-year-old psychiatrist to the United States.

An Israeli parliamentary source reported Tuesday that Transport Minister Bar Yehuda had instructed El Al's London office not to accept custody of Soblen again. El Al landed him in Britain July 1 when he slashed a wrist and his abdomen while being flown to New York after Israel expelled him.

Announcing the decision to deport the peddler of wartime secrets to the Soviets, Briish Home Secretary Henry Brooke told the House of Commons he was issuing a directive to El Al to return Soblen to the United States.

Refusal by El Al to accept the fugitive would raise another legal tangle.

Soblen's attorney in Israel, Ari Ankorion, refused to admit defeat. He said he was appealing to the Israeli interior minister to let Soblen return to Israel on a temporary visitor's visa so he could appeal to the Israeli Supreme Court for admission as a Jewish immigrant and at the same time apply for a visa to another country. Communist Czechoslovakia has offered to accept him.

The Israeli cabinet previously ruled that Soblen, as a convicted criminal, did not qualify for admission to Israel under the Law of Return guaranteeing Jews a homeland in Israel.

A spokesman for Pan American said El Al had asked the American line if it would take Soblen on its New York flight Thursday night. Pan American said it agreed, but Soblen was not put aboard the plane.

Soblen jumped $100,000 bail when he fled to Israel. The British government denied him political asylum after both the high court and the court of appeal ruled he was not legally admitted to Britain.

Groups Push Landfill Plan At Ohioville

Borough's Council, Midland, Brighton Officials Confer

Ohioville Council and Midland and Brighton Township officials Thursday night discussed the possible joint operation of a sanitary landfill and set next Tuesday evening for an inspection of a site on the old Smiths Ferry Rd. off Route 68 in Ohioville Borough.

In other matters, Council heard a report on current progress to obtain water improvements and a letter was read from Park H. Martin, secretary of the Pennsylvania State Highway Department, concerning Route 168.

Councilmen of the boroughs, with the township supervisors invited, will meet Tuesday at 7 p.m. at Ken Miller's service station on Route 68 and view the site of a possible landfill nearby.

Mrs. Emily Carroll, borough secretary, was asked to notify John Finley of Midland, a relative of the Finley and Alexander heirs who own the property, to be present.

In light of the State Health Department's plans to close the present dump in Cow Hollow, Ohioville Borough, at which Midland dumps its rubbish, Ohioville called the joint discussion in an effort to find a location suitable for joint operation and sharing of expenses and to fill the present and future needs of the area.

The site at Smiths Ferry will apparently require a sewer line to prevent any contamination of

Wellsville Council To Meet On Hall Plan

Wellsville Council will hold a special meeting Saturday night at 7 in City Hall to consider necessary legislation for placing a $250,000 bond issue on the ballot in November to construct a new city building as a combination City Hall-Post Office.

Mrs. Mary Rahter, president, explained Council will consider passing a "resolution of determination" in connection with the ballot proposal.

Council decided by a 4-3 vote July 18 to place the proposal on the ballot at the Nov. 6 election.

The job of having the resolution worded correctly on the ballot will be discussed by Council at the special meeting.

Seeks Jobless Checks

Bitter Man Holds 8 At Gunpoint

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—An embittered pipefitter, incensed by discontinuance of his disability checks, held eight men at gunpoint for 12½ hours in a state office before detectives disarmed him Thursday night.

Charles Elmer Milligan, 52, of Tempe, was subdued by Sgt. Earl Moore and detective Don Rodriquez, who gained entry to the barricaded office by posing as newsmen.

Moments earlier, Milligan had voluntarily released five of his prisoners.

The drama began about 8 a.m. in a four-story state capitol annex housing offices of the Arizona Industrial Commission.

There for a hearing on his disability claim, Milligan whipped out a .22 caliber pistol and wounded his own attorney in a scuffle before taking command of the room.

He released his lawyer, Stephen S. Gorey, 46, who scooted out of the room on the seat of his pants and was hospitalized with a flesh wound in his left leg. Later Gorey, from a hospital bed, conferred with Milligan by telephone and tried to talk him out of his gun-waving lecture to commission officials.

The gunpoint hearing was interrupted in its early stages by Milligan's son, Charles, 28, who was promptly thrown out by his angered father.

By telephone, Milligan told Det. Sgt. Seymour Nealist: "I damn near killed them all. He had to get past you to get in. You get him the hell out of this building."

Milligan suffered a back injury 18 months ago while working on the Glen Canyon Dam project on the Colorado River in northern Arizona. He drew disability compensation for a while, Gorey said, but the checks stopped in mid-March.

John B. Ryan, 63, a court reporter employed for the hearing and one of the hostages, said:

Charge Filed For Beaver Murder Case

Last Known 'Date' Of Slain Woman Enters No Plea

BEAVER FALLS, Pa. (AP)—Carrol Williams, 27, has been charged with murder in the death of Mrs. Loretta D. Schultz.

Williams was arraigned a few hours after he was returned from Ohio Thursday night. He entered no plea.

Sheriff John Hineman of Beaver County said he ordered Williams arrested in Crestline, Ohio, on a technicality resulting from a 1958 assault and battery conviction, after police learned Williams had been with Mrs. Schultz Monday night and early Tuesday.

The body of Mrs. Schultz, 23, a divorcee who lived with her two children and her parents at Freedom, was found along a road in nearby New Sewickley Twp. Tuesday.

Police said she apparently was strangled.

Final Report Awaited On Withholding Taxes

A final report probably will be available Tuesday or Wednesday on collection of withholding taxes from approximately 500 local employers, D. G. Wilkinson, income tax commissioner, said today.

Tuesday was the deadline for the reports, covering May and June. Wilkinson estimated today "at least 90 per cent" of the affected employers filed the reports. He said the office now is balancing out is books for July and will issue a report on the collections early next week.

Salem Income Tax Revenue Shows Gain

Alerted by calls that two men had fallen into a septic tank at the Robert Birbeck home on Henry Ave. Thursday night, a group of neighbors and I ran to the house in the twilight, hearing a siren whining nearby.

A sickening stench drifted from the vicinity of the home and the roar of a gasoline motor pump on a sanitation truck resounded over the area.

While Harold Peterson, water works distribution foreman and a neighbor of Birbeck, struggled to get a wide-bottomed ladder into the cesspool opening, I glanced down in the fading daylight.

A man's arm and shoulders floated on the surface of the bubbly brown water, and I thought, "My Lord, this man is drowning."

THE LADDER was shoved through the 2½-foot concrete edged hole and into the muck, but failed to hit bottom. Someone shouted, "Get some kind of a hook!"

A fireman ran up with an aluminum ladder, finally getting it lodged in a position where it seemed to hold, although shakily. Then someone — either Richard Plumley, the fireman, or James Sherwood — quickly climbed down, while we held the ladder, and reached out to grab the arm in the liquid, the level of which was about five feet or more below the ground.

"Pull him up, pull!" we called anxiously. Then the would-be rescuer hesitated, and I saw his eyes roll back into his head. I only then realized how foul was the air in the hole.

The man on the ladder swayed, then slumped sideways into the water.

I looked in disbelief as the ladder swung loosely in my hand and heard myself saying, "We've got to get him out," although I feared to descend into the deadly air.

Then I realized a leg and foot of one of the two men was snagged in the rung of the metal ladder and we began to pull the ladder up, hoping against hope the foot would remain caught.

The ladder came up, up, with the man's foot and leg still bent around the rung and I reached down into the tank as far as I

Due In Algiers Today

Ben Bella Wins Victory, Plans Triumphant Entry

ALGIERS (AP) — Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella, victor of a major battle in his bid to rule a sweepingly leftist Algeria, is due to enter Algiers in triumph today to take over leadership of the government.

A compromise between the rival political factions Thursday gave Ben Bella, 45, a possibly dominant role in shaping the future of this infant country.

Under the truce, the Ben Bella-led, seven-man political bureau will set the stage for general elections Aug. 27. Power then will be turned over to the National Council of the Algerian Revolution, the old revolutionary parliament.

Two opponents of Ben Bella, Deputy Premiers Belkacem Krim and Mohammed Boudiaf, said they agreed to this solution to keep Algeria from collapsing into total anarchy.

Premier Ben Youssef Ben Khedda, moderate ex-pharmacist who led the exile regime in the last months of struggle for nationhood, remains as nominal head of the provisional government. The real power, however, will be in the hands of the political bureau.

The truce agreement dodged a basic issue—the future of the army and its general staff. The general staff, headed by Col. Houari Boumedienne, was accused of plotting dictatorship and fired by Ben Khedda on the eve of independence. It flouted the dismissal and rallied behind Ben Bella.

Calls Action Political Move

Russell Attacks Kennedy For Georgia Intervention

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—U.S. Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia branded today as a political move President John F. Kennedy's comments about this city's racial problems.

Russell said the President's "stamp of approval upon the constant violation of the city laws is certain to encourage the importation of many other professionals and notoriety seekers and worsen an already bad situation."

The Democratic senator wired his criticism to Albany Herald editor James H. Gray, who also is state Democratic Party chairman.

The President said at his news conference that it was "wholly inexplicable" to him why Albany officials wouldn't sit down with Negro leaders to iron out problems.

Russell's telegram criticizing the President was only one of several coming into or going out of Albany in reference to the racial situation.

New York's Sen. Jacob Javits, a Republican, sent a wire to a Negro leader promising to come to Albany "without a moment's hesitation" if needed. Javits commended Kennedy for his comments in support of the integration effort.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. of Atlanta, in jail as a result of his Albany integration activities, and Dr. W. G. Anderson, president of the Albany Movement, both sent telegrams to the President thanking him for his comments and urging him to continue his support.

City officials have refused to negotiate with Negro leaders until King and other out-of-town integrationists leave Albany.

As the telegrams flew, a federal court hearing continued Thursday on the city's request for an injunction against mass demonstrations.

THE LADDER was shoved through the 2½-foot concrete edged hole and into the muck, but failed to hit bottom. Someone shouted, "Get some kind of a hook!"

A fireman ran up with an aluminum ladder, finally getting it lodged in a position where it seemed to hold, although shakily. Then someone — either Richard Plumley, the fireman, or James Sherwood — quickly climbed down, while we held the ladder, and reached out to grab the arm in the liquid, the level of which was about five feet or more below the ground.

"Pull him up, pull!" we called anxiously. Then the would-be rescuer hesitated, and I saw his eyes roll back into his head. I only then realized how foul was the air in the hole.

The man on the ladder swayed, then slumped sideways into the water.

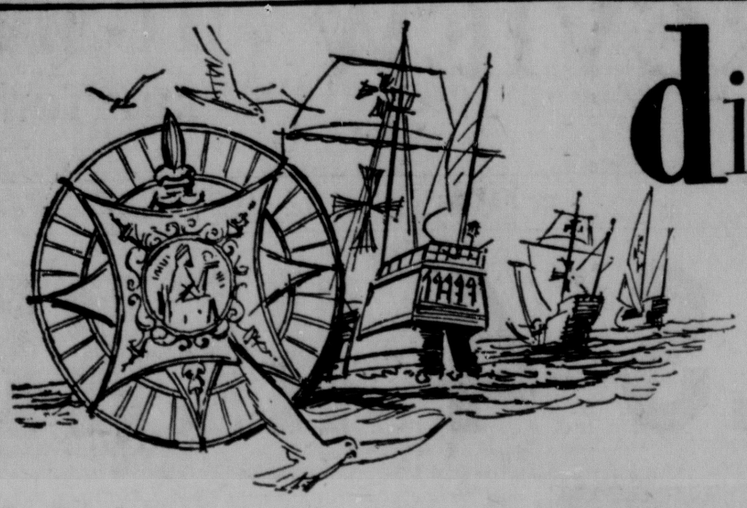

I looked in disbelief as the ladder swung loosely in my hand and heard myself saying, "We've got to get him out," although I feared to descend into the deadly air.

Then I realized a leg and foot of one of the two men was snagged in the rung of the metal ladder and we began to pull the ladder up, hoping against hope the foot would remain caught.

The ladder came up, up, with the man's foot and leg still bent around the rung and I reached down into the tank as far as I

City Fireman, 3 Others Die Of Sewer Gas

ed down the ladder to his rescue when he, too, quickly fell into the pit but remained conscious long enough to call once, "Help!"

Birbeck went for a rope and his distressed wife called the fire department, explaining the cesspool was being cleaned "and a man fell into the well." She asked Snediker, who answered the telephone at Central Station, to send a ladder right away.

Tragedy Not Clear

Unaware of the nature of the tragedy, Snediker immediately dispatched Plumley and Pollock from the North Side Station to the scene.

Firemen said sorrowfully last night after learning of Mr. Plumley's death that the emergency truck with at least two more men and carrying oxygen equipment also would have responded to the call if they had been informed the men had fallen into the liquid muck.

How Mr. Sherwood met his tragic death also remains unclear.

Even men working at the scene to reach the victims were unsure whether he entered the pit prior to Mr. Plumley. The question the witnesses still are trying to resolve is whether the utility employe was trying to reach the firemen or whether Mr. Plumley had gone to Mr. Sherwood's aid.

Hooks Leg On Ladder

One of the two had hooked his leg around a rung of the ladder and apparently was trying to reach the body of the other when he suddenly went limp and his head rolled back, facing upward. His body then rolled forward.

Meanwhile, Goodballet had started up St. Clair Ave. when he heard Pollock radio frantically for additional aid, relating something about "the kid" being in the cesspool.

Firemen said they believe the veteran firefighters was referring to his younger companion because he affectionately called Mr. Plumley "Kid."

Patrolmen Mooney and Paul Blevins along with Acting Lt. C. E. (Bill) Tice also arrived at the scene to aid in the rescue efforts.

Newsman At Scene

The neighbors and officers worked quickly to pull Mr. Plumley from the tank with some men lifting the ladder and Glenn Waight, The Review's news editor, reaching into the pit to grab his leg.

The rescuers were hampered by the narrow opening — about 22 inches — on the bell-shaped cesspool. The former cistern widens to about eight feet in the middle and 13 feet deep.

Firemen and police agreed the opening was too narrow to permit a person using a mask and Scott Air-Pak to wedge his way in. Ordinary face smoke masks are inadequate for toxic gas.

When they finally got Mr. Plumley above ground, a fireman immediately started giving artificial respiration although others were unable to detect any pulse beat. A few seconds later, a slight pulse was noted and Goodballet reached the scene with a resuscitator, immediately applying it to the stricken fireman.

Both Taken To Hospital

Young Miller's body then was pulled from the muck and both were rushed to the hospital by ambulances hastily summoned. However, the Glenmoor youth was dead on arrival.

Because of Mr. Plumley's critical condition, hospital aides continued to apply artificial respiration in the emergency room and a tracheotomy was performed to aid his breathing. In a tracheotomy, the skin at the throat is peeled back and a small device is inserted directly into the windpipe, bypassing the throat, so the victim can breathe.

The fireman later was transferred to a room and placed under an oxygen tent but died without regaining consciousness with members of his family at the bedside.

When Mr. Sherwood's body was spotted, Snediker was rigged into a rope sling and lowered into the pit, managing to fasten the rope around one leg.

Snediker Goes Limp

Manning the rope, fellow-firemen said they could see and feel Snediker start to go limp and hauled him out rapidly.

Another near-tragedy occurred just after the body was removed when the hydraulic brakes on the tank truck loosened and it began to drift back into the rescuers with the wheel injuring the foot of Joseph Wyand, an ambulance attendant and damaging some ambulance oxygen equipment.

During the attempt to get the truck halted, Mooney suffered his injury apparently catching his hand on a hook on one of the ladders.

Because of a similarity in their builds and the fact that both had mustaches, the lineman's body was confused with that of the sanitary service owner at first.

Search For Fourth

Working on the assumption that three persons were in the cesspool and that all had been recovered, firemen began picking up their equipment and the crowd started to leave.

Suddenly, authorities learned that Mr. Sherwood's body was not at the hospital and a search was started for him.

No one was sure how he got into the cesspool but the first word came early when his son ran back to his home to tell his mother that the father had fallen in. He is believed to have been attempting a rescue.

At the hospital, authorities found a card bearing the Richards' company name and contacted Mrs. Richards in an attempt to identify the youth.

Learning the description, Mrs. Richards tentatively identified the Miller youth and the hospital contacted Mrs. Miller. Arriving at the hospital, Mrs. Miller learned her son was one of the victims and became hysterical.

The grief-stricken Mrs. Richards also arrived at the hospital and was standing at the rear entrance of the hospital when her husband's body was removed from the ambulance.

Dr. Roy C. Costello, deputy county coroner, arrived at the hospital from the scene and began an examination, also contacting Dr. William Kolozsi, county coroner, who later came to East Liverpool.

Blood samples were taken from each of the victims and were sent today to a Cleveland toxicologist to positively identify the gas and the amount inhaled.

In discussing the deaths, Dr. Costello pointed out the gas odor, similar to the smell of rotten eggs, actually is hydrogen sulphide, highly toxic.

One part in a 1,000 (1/10th of 1 per cent) is "distinctly dangerous," the deputy coroner said.

Quoting a medical textbook, Dr. Costello said:

"If pure hydrogen sulphide is inhaled and absorbed into the blood stream in large quantities, the poison paralyzes the central nervous system causing rapid death by overwhelming the respiratory center in the brain."

Conferring with Safety - Service Director Robert Owen and Donald T. Duke, water department superintendent, the physican asked them to collect samples of the gas and solid matter in the cesspool and send it to the proper authorities for analysis.

He also suggested the cesspool be sealed to prevent children or curious spectators from removing the concrete slab and peering inside.

son reached down to grab the belt of the man and he was brought up, dripping and limp.

Another man — a fireman, I believe — began to give him artificial respiration. And several policemen were now gathered about with firemen attempting to get the others out. A policeman kneeling with me said the first man hauled out was Plumley.

I felt for a pulse after checking to see if his tongue was free. I could detect no beat in his wrist at first, but shortly the police officer said he could feel a throb and then I caught the faint rhythmic pressure.

BEHIND ME, at the opening only a few feet away, I could hear the frantic calling and efforts to find the other victims in the tank.

A resuscitator was brought and the nose and mouth mask fitted over Plumley's face and someone said ambulances were on the way.

Flashing red emergency lights of fire trucks and police cruisers flickered over the now darkened scene and flashlights and larger floodlamps cast unreal shadows in the trees and brush on the downhill slope at the rear of the house. An occasional siren moaned from the direction of St. Clair Ave.

Neighbors and the curious were gathering in the open ground and circular roadway around the Henry Ave. standpipes about 75 yards in front of the home.

BIRBECK, clerk of Probate Court in Lisbon, squeezed around the corner of the house again, sorrow on his face.

As we knelt by the unconscious fireman, the large tank truck began to drift backwards and there was a moment of panic in the hearts of those around the opening, but the truck was halted, then the roaring of pump motor on the truck ceased and loud voices were suddenly muffled in the tense hush.

I watched as a fireman, without an airpack mask but with a rope fastened about his chest, prodded in the liquid from a ladder in the tank. He suddenly reeled and was hauled quickly out, to sit on the edge of the tank, shaking his head.

AMBULANCE workers placed Plumley on a stretcher and bore him away and I grabbed Birbeck by the shoulder, suggesting he go in the house, knowing he had a heart condition.

—:—

HE NODDED and managed a weak smile, and we passed through the kitchen into the diningroom. Mrs. Birbeck, ashen-faced, was at the telephone. They asked if I wanted a drink of water or a cigarette, and he told me what had happened, his hands shaking slightly.

Burton Richards and Lawrence Miller were cleaning the tank, he said, when apparently a pipe became clogged, and Miller descended into the opening to work on the pipe.

Miller apparently was overcome by the sewer gas and fell in, and Richards went down after him. Birbeck said he heard Richards call, "Help," just once, and he ran for a rope while his wife phoned the fire department.

Birbeck then ran across the street and summoned Peterson who, spotting the smaller ladder in the tank, hurried to get a better one of his own.

It was then that help began to converge upon the narrow cement circle, but too late for those inside.

WITH THE removal of the third man from the tank, it was believed that all of those involved were now out. But alerted by word from City Hospital that Sherwood could not be accounted for, the hunt began again, about 9:55, by firemen with grappling hooks.

A fourth body was found shortly—that of Richards, since Sherwood was already taken out but had not been recognized at City Hospital. Fire Chief Charles Bryan and other firemen hauled the last body out at 10:15, a wet sodden form huddled in the glare of floodlights while the extent of the tragedy spread quickly through the large crowd now gathered.

PATROLMAN Kenneth Mooney asked me, "Can I use your hot water?", thinking I resided at the Birbeck home. I led him into the house, explaining I lived nearby, and he washed his hands, baring a severe cut Someone warned him to get hospital treatment and an anti-tetanus shot immediately, due to threat of infection from the contents of the tank.

I glanced at my clothes, and found my shirt smeared and torn. The crowd milled in the yard in front of the house, and the weary firemen began gathering their equipment.

My evening, which was to have ended with a casual family birthday party, had terminated in an unexpected encounter with death and a searing memory of the horrifying pit and the valiant courage of three men who died to save another.

Man Given Term In Entering Case

An East Liverpool man was sentenced on a burglary charge Thursday afternoon in Common Pleas Court and a Lisbon area man was placed on five years' probation on a manslaughter charge filed following a traffic fatality.

Jack Andrew Davis Jr., 33, of 470 Francis St., was sentenced by Judge Joel H. Sharp to a 1-15-year term at the Ohio Penitentiary on a charge of breaking and entering the DAV Home at West Point Feb. 26. His plea for probation was denied. The court said his past record is poor, asserting he has been arrested 21 times for intoxication, petty larceny and disorderly conduct. The court noted he was intoxicated yesterday when he appeared for the hearing.

John Joseph Diamond, 54, of Lisbon R. D. 4 was given probation in a second degree manslaughter charge stemming from the death of Sabina M. Mathason Oct. 26, 1961, when a car Diamond was driving hit a culvert west of Rogers. Judge Sharp sentenced him to 30 days in jail and told him to surrender his driver's license while he is on probation. Diamond said he has not driven since the accident and does not intend to drive again.

Sea Explorers Slate Public Supper Event

Plans for sponsoring a spaghetti supper were aired at a meeting of Sea Explorers Ship 80 Wednesday night at the Chester City Hall. Sam DeCapio, senior crew leader, will be in charge.

Discussion was also held on obtaining needed uniform parts and continuing work on a boat the unit owns. A membership drive was also planned.

I led him into the house, explaining I lived nearby, and he washed his hands, baring a severe cut. Someone warned him to get hospital treatment and an anti-tetanus shot immediately, due to threat of infection from the contents of the tank.

I glanced at my clothes, and found my shirt smeared and torn. The crowd milled in the yard in front of the house, and the weary firemen began gathering their equipment.

My evening, which was to have ended with a casual family birthday party, had terminated in an unexpected encounter with death and a searing memory of the horrifying pit and the valiant courage of three men who died to save another.

Man Given Term In Entering Case

An East Liverpool man was sentenced on a burglary charge Thursday afternoon in Common Pleas Court and a Lisbon area man was placed on five years' probation on a manslaughter charge filed following a traffic fatality.

Jack Andrew Davis Jr., 33, of 470 Francis St., was sentenced by Judge Joel H. Sharp to a 1-15-year term at the Ohio Penitentiary on a charge of breaking and entering the DAV Home at West Point Feb. 26. His plea for probation was denied. The court said his past record is poor, asserting he has been arrested 21 times for intoxication, petty larceny and disorderly conduct. The court noted he was intoxicated yesterday when he appeared for the hearing.

John Joseph Diamond, 54, of Lisbon R. D. 4 was given probation in a second degree manslaughter charge stemming from the death of Sabina M. Mathason Oct. 26, 1961, when a car Diamond was driving hit a culvert west of Rogers. Judge Sharp sentenced him to 30 days in jail and told him to surrender his driver's license while he is on probation. Diamond said he has not driven since the accident and does not intend to drive again.

Sea Explorers Slate Public Supper Event

Plans for sponsoring a spaghetti supper were aired at a meeting of Sea Explorers Ship 80 Wednesday night at the Chester City Hall. Sam DeCapio, senior crew leader, will be in charge.

Discussion was also held on obtaining needed uniform parts and continuing work on a boat the unit owns. A membership drive was also planned.

14th Amendment Will Stay

Columnist David Lawrence, commenting on an upcoming fifth term in Arkansas for Gov. Orval Faubus, reports a favorite theme —that the 14th Amendment to the Constitution was improperly added to the Constitution in 1868, therefore Gov. Faubus is to be admired for flouting it.

Lawrence recounts that the U.S. Supreme Court never has passed on the validity of the method used to ratify the 14th Amendment and concludes that the amendment does not need to be taken seriously. We believe this is unsound reasoning and always have said so when it reappeared in the Lawrence column.

We have proposed many times that if Americans who share the Lawrence view want to resolve the issue they should propose repeal of the 14th Amendment, instead of casting slurs on its validity, then using the slurs as an excuse to defy what has become a votal section of the Constitution.

They would learn they had no mass support for their view. They would learn that their fellow countrymen support the spirit and intent of the 14th Amendment and are not concerned with technical quibbles in the 20th century over events that occurred nearly a century ago.

The 14th Amendment is in five parts. Four are noncontroversial. The part that sticks in the craw of the amendment's critics reads:

"All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the state wherein they reside. No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States, nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the law."

Does anyone really want to repeal the 14th Amendment?

A Good Beginning

There is a unanimity of purpose in official Chester circles which indicates a crackdown on illegal sales of alcoholic beverages and gambling.

Council paved the way Wednesday night when it agreed to do everything in its power to assist Mayor Harry Abrams and the police in eliminating undesirable practices.

Those on the side of law and order should be encouraged by the turn of events.

The groundwork has been laid. Now it is up to all concerned to see that there is no slackening in the effort.

Neutral To A Fault

Take Only When Needed

An unexpected result of the thalidomide scare seems likely to be a stronger sense of caution about both new and old drugs.

While Americans are congratulating themselves because the Food and Drug Administration's Dr. Frances Kelsey barred the sale of thalidomide in this country, Europeans who had been using the substance recklessly because in West Germany it could be bought over the counter with no prescription will be wondering why their welfare was so callously disregarded. Thousands of deformed babies will be reminders of the tragedy in Europe.

But even more than stronger caution in the public is the probability of stronger caution among these members of the medical profession who have taken it for granted that drug manufacturing concerns could be trusted implicitly.

These companies have done distinguished work. Their integrity and skill have contributed greatly to the high health standards and the still-increasing longevity of the American people.

But they can make mistakes, and the possibility of injury can be multiplied needlessly by widespread use of new substances that should be prescribed and used only with close discrimination and great caution.

There will be more discrimination and more caution as the result of the thalidomide scare. Drug manufacturers must be in a mood by this time to concede that "Take Only When Needed" is still the best rule. Obeyed literally it would have stopped the thalidomide episode before it had a chance to get started, because most of the pills never would have been taken.

Closing The Doors

Word that the Kent State University branch will be closed here stands as a sharp setback education-wise.

In a time when advanced learning is more important than ever before, it hurts to see a facility such as the center be lost to the community and the district.

It must be frustrating to those who worked so hard to get the center going to see it closed after only three years of operation.

A lesson can be learned from the Kent State episode. If the opportunity again presents itself, the burden should not be placed on only a handful of people. It would do well for the entire community to get behind any worthwhile program. Advanced education is not for a few, it is for all, with the over-all community atmosphere benefitting as a result.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

I cannot emphasize too strongly that if our forefathers had been judged as harshly as we now are judging people fumbling the responsibilities of new-won independence, the British would have been obligated to pour in enough additional redcoats to save us from ourselves.

As a man who always has preferred brunettes to blondes, I have nothing good to say about the current rage for unnaturally light-colored hair.

Late evenings in Rosy Fingered Dawn are again producing that premonition of coming autumn all of us who live in the country think of as the Big Hush—the time of the year when birds quit singing.

I keep losing an argument about the use of nicknames in newspaper stories when the subjects are neither athletes nor show business personalities. Some of my associates say many people are better known by their nicknames than by their real names, which makes me think of a one-time friend whose nickname was "Fishy." If he died would they put "Hugh (Fishy) Arnold" on his tombstone?

If you want to prove to me that drug companies have a right to use the public as a guinea pig to see what the mass use of new substances will mean to human beings, you're wasting your time. Nothing that can come out of the tireless search for new products to bemuse us—and the medical profession—is important enough to risk a human life, not even a "miracle drug."

It gives me the shakes to realize that many public officials think they can do anything that comes to their minds because it's all part of the wonderful system of popular government. That's what French politicians said while they were destroying the Fourth Republic with their insanities and creating the hopeless situation finally relieved by De Gaulle's constitutional dictatorship.

It does not seem too much to ask that some sparkling genius take enough time off from moon madness to invent a butter spreader for roasting ears—push a button and the corn is buttered and salted.

Letter From Max

By Martin R. Miller

Dear Truman Twill:

Your articles about the trip to England and France have been entertaining and enlightening, except in one regard. That is cricket. Sir, your articles have not been cricket.

You dismiss this ancient and honorable pastime of our British cousins in a brief three paragraphs including the highly provincial Americanism, "Even watching it is an inducement to start yawning." Man, cricket is the national sport of the country from which the U.S. sprang.

Your poetical reflections in Stonehenge were rhapsodical and thoughtful, which makes all the more obvious your neglect of cricket. To put it bluntly, you sound just like a narrow-minded Englishman talking about our great game of baseball. He too would show his ignorance and disdain for things that really matter by saying baseball caused him to yawn.

Here in America our knowledge of cricket is so limited it seems unlikely, for instance, that in cricket there could be such a thing as a "brush-off" pitch or bowl. This is one of many things we baseball fans would like to know.

And of course in baseball we have such things as the suicide squeeze bunt, the sacrifice fly, swinging to protect the plate, signals from the third base coach to the batter, pitchouts, double and triple plays, resin bags and a lot of other stuff.

As for the thing you call "inscrutability," also the removal of sweaters which an official then ties around his midriff, how about when the pitcher in baseball gets on first base and a boy runs out with the pitcher's jacket to keep him warm so his arm doesn't tighten up? Try explaining that sometime to an Englishman. If the pitcher in baseball holds the outcome of the game in the palm of his hand and is supposed to be so tough, why does he need a jacket?

In lieu of an enlightenment from you, we have been forced to refer to an encyclopedia, which says the first authoritative set of rules for cricket was drawn up in England in 1774. This seems to antedate our own game of baseball by a century more or less.

The British now have had a glimpse of baseball via Telstar and it now seems we will have to take Telstar over Twill to get a glimpse of cricket.

Your curiosity about something truly inscrutable — Stonehenge I is to be admired, but meantime many of us will continue to wonder about the British national pastime of cricket which really must not be inscrutable at all once you get the hang of it.

Faithfully yours,
MAX

(In Reply: I tried, Max, but what can you do about something that isn't even a game but a match that may drag on for days unless rain stops it? And did you know the bowler is forbidden to bend his arm when he throws? And that spectators remain silent, except for an occasional pitter-patter of applause? No vile talk, no loud insults. No fuss, no muss, no sweat. Gentlemen only. That's why I say it's inscrutable as far as Americans are concerned. We'd murder da bums! —T.T.)

All Does Not Go Well In Russia

By Victor Riesel

ISTANBUL

There is a Turkish lullaby, grimly enough, about Russian bullets. My friends here recall their mothers singing it to them. Remember, my child, says the lullaby, if you get a Russian bullet in your back you will go to hell. If you are shot in the chest by a Russian bullet, you will go to heaven.

Victor Riesel

Even in his cradle days the young Turk learns the Russian is one from whom you never run. You face him. If you turn your back or if you run, you're dead or doomed. The Turks never have run.

Today, along some 900 land miles and the vast curve of the Black Sea a few miles north of here, our Turkish allies keep a sharp eye and ear on the Soviets. Here and in Ankara you learn most quickly and accurately from the wary Turks — if they trust you — what's happening inside the Sino - Soviet bloc minute by minute.

I HAVE GONE over reports by the hour — reports of industrial collapse even in the Moscow-Leningrad area, devastation and cracking of supply lines throughout Siberia, people's sabotage in Czechoslovakia, riots inside Albanian concentration camps.

All give the lie to the vast unconscionable public relations front put up by Chairman Khrushchev to give an appearance of strength before the world.

I will have more on all this in future dispatches — including as full a report as possible on Soviet firing squads now almost as active as Castro's. But first there are some fascinating developments I learned here which rival the sheer desperation of the inner party group of the all Soviet Central Committee in Moscow.

So uncertain is the party leadership of its people that in at least one vast area — Ukraine, the "breadbasket," Chairman Khrushchev and his presidium have turned 1962 into 1984. For those who have not read George Orwell's sledge-hammer anti - Communist novel "1984," it must be pointed out that in his devastating projection of a Communist society 20 years hence, "Big Brother," a future Khrushchev, has an apparatus through which he can peer into and talk into every apartment in the Communist Fatherland.

IN REAL LIFE in the Ukraine today the Ministry of Communications is beginning to install the first part of such an awesome mechanism. It has been ordered that every apartment, every room in every public school, high school and public building shall have a loudspeaker installed.

These are being hooked up to a central relay center. This in turn can be switched from the central Ukraine broadcasting center to one in Moscow.

Thus Chairman Khrushchev or his successor — and there soon may be one — will be able to flip a switch in his office and talk to every human being who is indoors or on the streets of the Ukraine.

Later this "Big Brother" broadcasting system will be extended to other out-lying Soviet "Socialist Republics" and then lastly into Moscow where the foreign communities are concentrated.

The Ukraine was selected first because of its vital role in the U.S.S.R.'s collapsing agricultural economy. By centralized radio exhortations, the government believes it can help discipline its huge agricultural province and convince, cajole or terrorize its people into producing more and sabotaging less.

WITH AGRICULTURAL collapse being matched by industrial chaos, there is need for new managerial talent even in the land where Chairman Khrushchev says socialism has been obtained and communism is just at the end of the Red rainbow.

So the Communist party of the Soviet Union (CPSU) has been searching through its "obkoms" and "kraycoms" — its sectional groups across 5,000 miles — for new talent. The search is about over for the year.

Training starts in an organization virtually unknown to Americans. I refer to the higher party school, at the CPSU Central Committee. You find it by going to Building No. 6, Miusskaya Square, Moscow A-47. But no ordinary Soviet citizen who reads this should bother applying. The party doesn't just trust anyone, or any old-timer or any old Bolshevik.

The applicant must be screened and come forward with special affidavits from his sectional chief or secretary. He must have at least three years in the party. He must be less than 40 years old. That makes him a young Communist who grew up under the system. He must be a specialist in one of three areas.

HE MUST HAVE special experience in leading party, Soviet and press work. In other words, he is needed in the newly - reorganized inner propaganda and agitation operations to stir the people who apparently are not over-enthusiastic about being stirred.

Always wanted by the higher school are agriculturalists and specialists in industry. Each must have "excelled" in public and party life. There have been several thousand such young heroes of socialism recommended by the CPSU obkoms, kraycoms and the Central Committees of the U.S.S.R.'s Communist parties.

They now are gathering in Moscow. There they will be housed in a communal project — without their families — so there can be no distractions.

On Sept. 1, they go into rigid training. It had better be a crash course. Sooner or later, without considerable bolstering, the Soviet economic system will splinter so obviously that even we in the free world will be able to see that it is made of papier mache — that it is really industrially a paper tiger.

Fifth Time For Faubus

By David Lawrence

Constitutional Issue Revived

The people of Arkansas have spoken. At least the Democratic party, which is in the majority there, has spoken. The net result is that Gov. Orval Faubus has been re-elected to a fifth term. Three times since the episode of 1957 when federal troops were ordered to Little Rock, the people have by their ballots endorsed the man who struggled to preserve the U.S. Constitution as he conscientiously interpreted it. He believed states have the right to police their own disorders and prevent riots, and that federal intervention is constitutional only if a state has requested such aid.

David Lawrence

To this day there is a serious question as to whether federal troops were legally employed in trying to enforce a federal court order in Little Rock. The present United States attorney general, Robert F. Kennedy, said in speeches during the 1960 campaign that he thought federal marshals should have been sent to Little Rock, instead of federal troops.

Fine points of law are often disregarded by an emotional public. Few people realize, for instance, that the 14th Amendment, on which the Supreme Court based its 1954 desegregation decision, was fraudulently inserted in the Constitution in 1868, though the record of history plainly points out the shameful behavior of the emotional radicals in Congress who forced that action.

Seats in congress were denied Southerners, and state legislatures which had already adopted the 13th Amendment were suddenly deprived of their right to pass on the merits of the 14th. The Supreme Court has never dared to pass upon the validity of the arbitrary method used to "ratify" the 14th amendment.

THROUGHOUT the length and breadth of America, moreover—and, indeed, overseas—Gov. Faubus, who ventured to protect his people against public disturbances arising over a court order based on the 14th amendment, was pilloried as some kind of an ogre who had mangled the Constitution.

This correspondent attended an integrated public high school and would do the same if he were of student age now. But illegality cannot be condoned, and distortion of the Constitution cannot be justified in order to suit the emotional whims of the times no matter how meritorious the objective.

The rule of Machiavelli that "the end justifies the means" has been relied on by many a dictator in the past and is the basis today of much of the capricious behavior of communists throughout the world. Unless there is a government of law, a free society cannot endure and human rights are eventually lost.

Gov. Faubus stood his ground courageously. He decided that vindication could come only through the votes of his fellow citizens.

He ran this year against a field of five candidates, all of them reputable and well known in the state. Unquestionably, virtually all of them would have been acceptable to the people of Arkansas on the segregationist issue. But the people there preferred to tell the world they still believe in Orval Faubus and are convinced he did not get fair treatment by the outside public in the 1957 controversy.

They, therefore, gave Mr. Faubus more votes in the Democratic primary than the combined total of all five other candidates for governor.

ARKANSAS is one of the "one-party areas" president Kennedy referred to the other day. He seemed to think it was useless for a president to intervene in such areas even to assist the candidacy of a member of Congress from his own party. He implied there is no contest in these areas and hence he couldn't take sides.

Actually, there are plenty of contests in "one-party areas," but the battles are in party primaries, not in the final election.

The Faubus victory shows the people are loyal to a man of courage in politics who dares to speak his convictions, though the tide may be running against him outside his own state.

The European press, which at times superficially discusses American politics, would do well to examine the Arkansas primary and take note that a governor has been renominated there and in November will be elected to a fifth term—unprecedented in state history—just because he did venture to stand up for the Constitution as it had been interpreted for decades and as he still believes it should be interpreted today when a question arises concerning the dispatch of federal troops to enforce a federal court order.

He obeyed the order, but that doesn't mean that either he or the people of Arkansas agree today that the method used was constitutional.

SBA's Dilemma

By Andrew J. Glass

The Kennedy Administration is going to great lengths these days to prove its friendship for the nation's 4.5 million small business men. Now, all it needs is some cash with which to back up its cordiality.

The fact of the matter is that the Small Business Administration, entitled to make 5½ per cent loans to little concerns that can't get funds elsewhere, has been broke since last March.

Under its New Frontier proprietors, SBA loan applications spurted 60 per cent. The additional demand forced John E. Horne, who runs the agency, to ask Congress for more revolving funds.

Horne's fighting sword has swung in many a Capitol Hill crusade: for years he served as an administrative assistant to Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala.

BUT THE SENATE-HOUSE appropriations row, which throttled all money bills for five months, was a low blow. In the Washington party circuit, the running feud between the two octogenarian committee chairmen inspired witty comment. For the SBA, however, it proved to be a near-disaster.

Horne's ministrations elicited $85 million in additional funds from the House and $90 million from the Senate. In conference, the least the SBA could have got was $85 million.

Then the protocol kettle boiled over and the money machine stopped humming. By the time it was over, the Budget Bureau had scaled down the SBA request to $60 million. Last week, after the supplementary bill was finally voted out, President Kennedy signed into law a $40 million SBA appropriation.

"The stoppage impaired our relationship with banks," Mr. Horne told a visitor last week. "When businessmen realized we could only draw up loans on paper and had no money with which to follow through, there was a significant lessening of demand."

The bank relationship stems from a bank loan participation program initiated by the SBA under its new administrator. It calls for private lenders to write a part of the loan while the SBA finances the remainder.

Horne reported the $40 million was not sufficient, "to clean out our pipeline." The agency is asking for another $300 million in the current fiscal year which would enable it to lend up to his authorized ceiling of $1.6 billion.

DESPITE ITS CURRENT money problems, the SBA is moving ahead towards its goal of being recognized as "a one-stop service agency for small business."

Much of the impetus comes directly from the White House where Horne serves as chairman of an intra-departmental committee formed last year to develop both executive changes and legislative ideas which will aid small business men.

The group includes such New Frontier personalities as Raul Rand Dixon, chairman of the Federal Trade Commission; Lee Loevinger, the Justice Department's chief trust buster, and Robert V. Roosa, Under Secretary of the Treasury for monetary affairs.

The group's most exciting project to date is a still incomplete report on how to insure that small business gets its due under the weapons system of defense procurement. The study, which may be out this fall, will supplement the President's 1961 order to step up government purchases from the small firms by 10 per cent.

It must be frustrating to those who worked so hard to get the center going to see it closed after only three years of operation.

A lesson can be learned from the Kent State episode. If the opportunity again presents itself, the burden should not be placed on only a handful of people. It would do well for the entire community to get behind any worthwhile program. Advanced education is not for a few, it is for all, with the over-all community atmosphere benefitting as a result.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

I cannot emphasize too strongly that if our forefathers had been judged as harshly as we now are judging people fumbling the responsibilities of new-won independence, the British would have been obligated to pour in enough additional redcoats to save us from ourselves.

As a man who always has preferred brunettes to blondes, I have nothing good to say about the current rage for unnaturally light-colored hair.

Late evenings in Rosy Fingered Dawn are again producing that premonition of coming autumn all of us who live in the country think of as the Big Hush—the time of the year when birds quit singing.

I keep losing an argument about the use of nicknames in newspaper stories when the subjects are neither athletes nor show business personalities. Some of my associates say many people are better known by their nicknames than by their real names, which makes me think of a one-time friend whose nickname was "Fishy." If he died would they put "Hugh (Fishy) Arnold" on his tombstone?

If you want to prove to me that drug companies have a right to use the public as a guinea pig to see what the mass use of new substances will mean to human beings, you're wasting your time. Nothing that can come out of the tireless search for new products to bemuse us—and the medical profession—is important enough to risk a human life, not even a "miracle drug."

It gives me the shakes to realize that many public officials think they can do anything that comes to their minds because it's all part of the wonderful system of popular government. That's what French politicians said while they were destroying the Fourth Republic with their insanities and creating the hopeless situation finally relieved by De Gaulle's constitutional dictatorship.

It does not seem too much to ask that some sparkling genius take enough time off from moon madness to invent a butter spreader for roasting ears—push a button and the corn is buttered and salted.

Letter From Max

By Martin R. Miller

Dear Truman Twill:

Your articles about the trip to England and France have been entertaining and enlightening, except in one regard. That is cricket. Sir, your articles have not been cricket.

You dismiss this ancient and honorable pastime of our British cousins in a brief three paragraphs including the highly provincial Americanism, "Even watching it is an inducement to start yawning." Man, cricket is the national sport of the country from which the U.S. sprang.

Your poetical reflections in Stonehenge were rhapsodical and thoughtful, which makes all the more obvious your neglect of cricket. To put it bluntly, you sound just like a narrow-minded Englishman talking about our great game of baseball. He too would show his ignorance and disdain for things that really matter by saying baseball caused him to yawn.

Here in America our knowledge of cricket is so limited it seems unlikely, for instance, that in cricket there could be such a thing as a "brush-off" pitch or bowl. This is one of many things we baseball fans would like to know.

And of course in baseball we have such things as the suicide squeeze bunt, the sacrifice fly, swinging to protect the plate, signals from the third base coach to the batter, pitchouts, double and triple plays, resin bags and a lot of other stuff.

As for the thing you call "inscrutability," also the removal of sweaters which an official then ties around his midriff, how about when the pitcher in baseball gets on first base and a boy runs out with the pitcher's jacket to keep him warm so his arm doesn't tighten up? Try explaining that sometime to an Englishman. If the pitcher in baseball holds the outcome of the game in the palm of his hand and is supposed to be so tough, why does he need a jacket?

In lieu of an enlightenment from you, we have been forced to refer to an encyclopedia, which says the first authoritative set of rules for cricket was drawn up in England in 1774. This seems to antedate our own game of baseball by a century more or less.

The British now have had a glimpse of baseball via Telstar and it now seems we will have to take Telstar over Twill to get a glimpse of cricket.

Your curiosity about something truly inscrutable — Stonehenge I is to be admired, but meantime many of us will continue to wonder about the British national pastime of cricket which really must not be inscrutable at all once you get the hang of it.

Faithfully yours,
MAX

(In Reply: I tried, Max, but what can you do about something that isn't even a game but a match that may drag on for days unless rain stops it? And did you know the bowler is forbidden to bend his arm when he throws? And that spectators remain silent, except for an occasional pitter-patter of applause? No vile talk, no loud insults. No fuss, no muss, no sweat. Gentlemen only. That's why I say it's inscrutable as far as Americans are concerned. We'd murder da bums! —T.T.)

Neutral To A Fault

All Does Not Go Well In Russia

By Victor Riesel

ISTANBUL

There is a Turkish lullaby, grimly enough, about Russian bullets. My friends here recall their mothers singing it to them. Remember, my child, says the lullaby, if you get a Russian bullet in your back you will go to hell. If you are shot in the chest by a Russian bullet, you will go to heaven.

Victor Riesel

Even in his cradle days the young Turk learns the Russian is one from whom you never run. You face him. If you turn your back or if you run, you're dead or doomed. The Turks never have run.

Today, along some 900 land miles and the vast curve of the Black Sea a few miles north of here, our Turkish allies keep a sharp eye and ear on the Soviets. Here and in Ankara you learn most quickly and accurately from the wary Turks — if they trust you — what's happening inside the Sino - Soviet bloc minute by minute.

I HAVE GONE over reports by the hour — reports of industrial collapse even in the Moscow-Leningrad area, devastation and cracking of supply lines throughout Siberia, people's sabotage in Czechoslovakia, riots inside Albanian concentration camps.

All give the lie to the vast unconscionable public relations front put up by Chairman Khrushchev to give an appearance of strength before the world.

I will have more on all this in future dispatches — including as full a report as possible on Soviet firing squads now almost as active as Castro's. But first there are some fascinating developments I learned here which rival the sheer desperation of the inner party group of the all Soviet Central Committee in Moscow.

So uncertain is the party leadership of its people that in at least one vast area — Ukraine, the "breadbasket," Chairman Khrushchev and his presidium have turned 1962 into 1984. For those who have not read George Orwell's sledge-hammer anti - Communist novel "1984," it must be pointed out that in his devastating projection of a Communist society 20 years hence, "Big Brother," a future Khrushchev, has an apparatus through which he can peer into and talk into every apartment in the Communist Fatherland.

IN REAL LIFE in the Ukraine today the Ministry of Communications is beginning to install the first part of such an awesome mechanism. It has been ordered that every apartment, every room in every public school, high school and public building shall have a loudspeaker installed.

These are being hooked up to a central relay center. This in turn can be switched from the central Ukraine broadcasting center to one in Moscow.

Thus Chairman Khrushchev or his successor — and there soon may be one — will be able to flip a switch in his office and talk to every human being who is indoors or on the streets of the Ukraine.

Later this "Big Brother" broadcasting system will be extended to other out-lying Soviet "Socialist Republics" and then lastly into Moscow where the foreign communities are concentrated.

The Ukraine was selected first because of its vital role in the U.S.S.R.'s collapsing agricultural economy. By centralized radio exhortations, the government believes it can help discipline its huge agricultural province and convince, cajole or terrorize its people into producing more and sabotaging less.

WITH AGRICULTURAL collapse being matched by industrial chaos, there is need for new managerial talent even in the land where Chairman Khrushchev says socialism has been obtained and communism is just at the end of the Red rainbow.

So the Communist party of the Soviet Union (CPSU) has been searching through its "obkoms" and "kraycoms" — its sectional groups across 5,000 miles — for new talent. The search is about over for the year.

Training starts in an organization virtually unknown to Americans. I refer to the higher party school, at the CPSU Central Committee. You find it by going to Building No. 6, Miusskaya Square, Moscow A-47. But no ordinary Soviet citizen who reads this should bother applying. The party doesn't just trust anyone, or any old-timer or any old Bolshevik.

The applicant must be screened and come forward with special affidavits from his sectional chief or secretary. He must have at least three years in the party. He must be less than 40 years old. That makes him a young Communist who grew up under the system. He must be a specialist in one of three areas.

HE MUST HAVE special experience in leading party, Soviet and press work. In other words, he is needed in the newly - reorganized inner propaganda and agitation operations to stir the people who apparently are not over-enthusiastic about being stirred.

Always wanted by the higher school are agriculturalists and specialists in industry. Each must have "excelled" in public and party life. There have been several thousand such young heroes of socialism recommended by the CPSU obkoms, kraycoms and the Central Committees of the U.S.S.R.'s Communist parties.

They now are gathering in Moscow. There they will be housed in a communal project — without their families — so there can be no distractions.

On Sept. 1, they go into rigid training. It had better be a crash course. Sooner or later, without considerable bolstering, the Soviet economic system will splinter so obviously that even we in the free world will be able to see that it is made of papier mache — that it is really industrially a paper tiger.

Fifth Time For Faubus

By David Lawrence

Constitutional Issue Revived

The people of Arkansas have spoken. At least the Democratic party, which is in the majority there, has spoken. The net result is that Gov. Orval Faubus has been re-elected to a fifth term. Three times since the episode of 1957 when federal troops were ordered to Little Rock, the people have by their ballots endorsed the man who struggled to preserve the U.S. Constitution as he conscientiously interpreted it. He believed states have the right to police their own disorders and prevent riots, and that federal intervention is constitutional only if a state has requested such aid.

David Lawrence

To this day there is a serious question as to whether federal troops were legally employed in trying to enforce a federal court order in Little Rock. The present United States attorney general, Robert F. Kennedy, said in speeches during the 1960 campaign that he thought federal marshals should have been sent to Little Rock, instead of federal troops.

Fine points of law are often disregarded by an emotional public. Few people realize, for instance, that the 14th Amendment, on which the Supreme Court based its 1954 desegregation decision, was fraudulently inserted in the Constitution in 1868, though the record of history plainly points out the shameful behavior of the emotional radicals in Congress who forced that action.

Seats in congress were denied Southerners, and state legislatures which had already adopted the 13th Amendment were suddenly deprived of their right to pass on the merits of the 14th. The Supreme Court has never dared to pass upon the validity of the arbitrary method used to "ratify" the 14th amendment.

THROUGHOUT the length and breadth of America, moreover—and, indeed, overseas—Gov. Faubus, who ventured to protect his people against public disturbances arising over a court order based on the 14th amendment, was pilloried as some kind of an ogre who had mangled the Constitution.

This correspondent attended an integrated public high school and would do the same if he were of student age now. But illegality cannot be condoned, and distortion of the Constitution cannot be justified in order to suit the emotional whims of the times no matter how meritorious the objective.

The rule of Machiavelli that "the end justifies the means" has been relied on by many a dictator in the past and is the basis today of much of the capricious behavior of communists throughout the world. Unless there is a government of law, a free society cannot endure and human rights are eventually lost.

Gov. Faubus stood his ground courageously. He decided that vindication could come only through the votes of his fellow citizens.

He ran this year against a field of five candidates, all of them reputable and well known in the state. Unquestionably, virtually all of them would have been acceptable to the people of Arkansas on the segregationist issue. But the people there preferred to tell the world they still believe in Orval Faubus and are convinced he did not get fair treatment by the outside public in the 1957 controversy.

They, therefore, gave Mr. Faubus more votes in the Democratic primary than the combined total of all five other candidates for governor.

ARKANSAS is one of the "one-party areas" president Kennedy referred to the other day. He seemed to think it was useless for a president to intervene in such areas even to assist the candidacy of a member of Congress from his own party. He implied there is no contest in these areas and hence he couldn't take sides.

Actually, there are plenty of contests in "one-party areas," but the battles are in party primaries, not in the final election.

The Faubus victory shows the people are loyal to a man of courage in politics who dares to speak his convictions, though the tide may be running against him outside his own state.

The European press, which at times superficially discusses American politics, would do well to examine the Arkansas primary and take note that a governor has been renominated there and in November will be elected to a fifth term—unprecedented in state history—just because he did venture to stand up for the Constitution as it had been interpreted for decades and as he still believes it should be interpreted today when a question arises concerning the dispatch of federal troops to enforce a federal court order.

He obeyed the order, but that doesn't mean that either he or the people of Arkansas agree today that the method used was constitutional.

SBA's Dilemma

By Andrew J. Glass

The Kennedy Administration is going to great lengths these days to prove its friendship for the nation's 4.5 million small business men. Now, all it needs is some cash with which to back up its cordiality.

The fact of the matter is that the Small Business Administration, entitled to make 5½ per cent loans to little concerns that can't get funds elsewhere, has been broke since last March.

Under its New Frontier proprietors, SBA loan applications spurted 60 per cent. The additional demand forced John E. Horne, who runs the agency, to ask Congress for more revolving funds.

Horne's fighting sword has swung in many a Capitol Hill crusade: for years he served as an administrative assistant to Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala.

BUT THE SENATE-HOUSE appropriations row, which throttled all money bills for five months, was a low blow. In the Washington party circuit, the running feud between the two octogenarian committee chairmen inspired witty comment. For the SBA, however, it proved to be a near-disaster.

Horne's ministrations elicited $85 million in additional funds from the House and $90 million from the Senate. In conference, the least the SBA could have got was $85 million.

Then the protocol kettle boiled over and the money machine stopped humming. By the time it was over, the Budget Bureau had scaled down the SBA request to $60 million. Last week, after the supplementary bill was finally voted out, President Kennedy signed into law a $40 million SBA appropriation.

"The stoppage impaired our relationship with banks," Mr. Horne told a visitor last week. "When businessmen realized we could only draw up loans on paper and had no money with which to follow through, there was a significant lessening of demand."

The bank relationship stems from a bank loan participation program initiated by the SBA under its new administrator. It calls for private lenders to write a part of the loan while the SBA finances the remainder.

Horne reported the $40 million was not sufficient, "to clean out our pipeline." The agency is asking for another $300 million in the current fiscal year which would enable it to lend up to his authorized ceiling of $1.6 billion.

DESPITE ITS CURRENT money problems, the SBA is moving ahead towards its goal of being recognized as "a one-stop service agency for small business."

Much of the impetus comes directly from the White House where Horne serves as chairman of an intra-departmental committee formed last year to develop both executive changes and legislative ideas which will aid small business men.

The group includes such New Frontier personalities as Raul Rand Dixon, chairman of the Federal Trade Commission; Lee Loevinger, the Justice Department's chief trust buster, and Robert V. Roosa, Under Secretary of the Treasury for monetary affairs.

The group's most exciting project to date is a still incomplete report on how to insure that small business gets its due under the weapons system of defense procurement. The study, which may be out this fall, will supplement the President's 1961 order to step up government purchases from the small firms by 10 per cent.

Developments Listed In Furore Over Drug

By The Associated Press

Here are the latest developments on the drug thalidomide, believed to cause deformities in infants when taken by mothers in early pregnancy:

WASHINGTON—Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said the laws and regulations concerning the experimental use of new drugs are so loose that people become involuntary human guinea pigs.

WASHINGTON—Secretary of Welfare Anthony Celebrezze promized new regulations soon to govern distribution of drugs to physicians for investigational purposes.

LOS ANGELES—Television actress Sherri Finkbine of Phoenix, Ariz., denied a legal abortion in an appeal to an Arizona court, may leave for Stockholm, Sweden, today. Sweden grants legal abortions for social, family or health reasons.

KANSAS CITY—A U.S. Food and Drug Administration spokesman said hundreds of persons in Kansas City—including a few pregnant women—were given thalidomide. He added that reports so far show all the expectant mothers but one gave birth to normal babies. The remaining woman is eight months pregnant.

WINDSOR, Ont.—A couple whose twins were born with deformities will seek government assistance. The mother took pills containing thalidomide. And the twins, a boy and a girl, were born last January with deformed forearms and thumbs. Said the mother: "We don't know how much medical treatment will cost us but if aid is available we will apply for it."

HEIDELBERG, Germany—U.S. Army doctors, reporting at least three deformed infants born, warned soldiers' wives against use of thalidomide. The Army said the drug had not been used in its medical facilities or pharmacies but that nonmilitary doctors had prescribed the drug to some Army wives.

NEW YORK—The City Health Department said it had traced a woman who had 374 pills containing thalidomide. Department investigators have recovered 539 doses of the compound.

BOSTON—State public health officials said they would ask all Massachusetts hospitals and doctors to make voluntary reports of babies born with congenital defects.

NEW YORK—The drug, medicine and chemical company of Richardson-Merrell Inc. reported record high sales and earnings for the year ended June 30. The company's William S. Merrell Co. division is the United States licensee for thalidomide, but none of the drug was sold by the division.

Youth Enters Denial On Stickup Charges

At a preliminary heaing Thursday in Juvenile Court at Lisbon, James E. Everhart, 17, of 800 Dresden Ave., pleaded not guilty to armed robbery of a Dresden Ave. service station July 21 in which $60 was taken.

Judge Louis Tobin then set the hearing Aug. 20 at 1 p.m. and set bond for Everhart at $1,000. He failed to make bond and was returned to the detention room at the County Jail.

The youth was cited after he had been identified as the stickup man by Gary Champ, 22, attendant at the Standard Oil. station at Dresden and Webber Way.

Gunpoint

"He just wanted to tell his story, and he did it, even though he repeated himself several times. When he finished, he finished and that was it."

At that point, Milligan released all hostages except Donald J. Morgan, 47, the commission's chief attorney, and the two pseudo-newsmen.

Sgt. Moore got four glasses of water and the men began to talk.

As Milligan turned his head to pick up a glass of water, Rodriquez leaped at him and grabbed the pistol. Moore joined his fellow officer to overpower the husky pipefitter.

There was one wild shot from Milligan's gun, but Moore said, "I don't think he felt like killing anybody."

Reactions of the prisoners varied.

C. Blaine Dunford, 59, employed in the commission's records department, emerged first. He was crying.

"I'm sorry," he said, "but I just can't help it."

He described his fear as greater than what he experienced when he was employed in Honolulu the day the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor.

Next was Dr. Leo L. Tuveson, 51, attending the hearing to testify against Milligan's disability claim.

"All in a day's work," said the physician.

Also held was Loren G. Shelley, 33, a commission attorney.

Said Shelley when he telephoned his wife: "I'll be heading home shortly."

Milligan said nothing as he was led away. He was booked on charges of assault with a deadly weapon and investigation of sanity.

During the morning hours, Milligan talked frequently by telephone with police in adjacent offices.

Later the pipefitter requested that newsmen be sent in. Moore and Rodriquez removed their guns and posed as reporters. They entered the hearing room at 12:30 p.m. to begin an eight hour wait that ended when Milligan was subdued.

Developments Listed In Furore Over Drug

By The Associated Press

Here are the latest developments on the drug thalidomide, believed to cause deformities in infants when taken by mothers in early pregnancy:

WASHINGTON—Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said the laws and regulations concerning the experimental use of new drugs are so loose that people become involuntary human guinea pigs.

WASHINGTON—Secretary of Welfare Anthony Celebrezze promized new regulations soon to govern distribution of drugs to physicians for investigational purposes.

LOS ANGELES—Television actress Sherri Finkbine of Phoenix, Ariz., denied a legal abortion in an appeal to an Arizona court, may leave for Stockholm, Sweden, today. Sweden grants legal abortions for social, family or health reasons.

KANSAS CITY—A U.S. Food and Drug Administration spokesman said hundreds of persons in Kansas City—including a few pregnant women—were given thalidomide. He added that reports so far show all the expectant mothers but one gave birth to normal babies. The remaining woman is eight months pregnant.

WINDSOR, Ont.—A couple whose twins were born with deformities will seek government assistance. The mother took pills containing thalidomide. And the twins, a boy and a girl, were born last January with deformed forearms and thumbs. Said the mother: "We don't know how much medical treatment will cost us, but if aid is available we will apply for it."

HEIDELBERG, Germany—U.S. Army doctors, reporting at least three deformed infants born, warned soldiers' wives against use of thalidomide. The Army said the drug had not been used in its medical facilities or pharmacies but that nonmilitary doctors had prescribed the drug to some Army wives.

NEW YORK—The City Health Department said it had traced a woman who had 374 pills containing thalidomide. Department investigators have recovered 539 doses of the compound.

BOSTON—State public health officials said they would ask all Massachusetts hospitals and doctors to make voluntary reports of babies born with congenital defects.

NEW YORK—The drug, medicine and chemical company of Richardson-Merrell Inc. reported record high sales and earnings for the year ended June 30. The company's William S. Merrell Co. division is the United States licensee for thalidomide, but none of the drug was sold by the division.

Youth Enters Denial On Stickup Charges

At a preliminary heaing Thursday in Juvenile Court at Lisbon, James E. Everhart, 17, of 800 Dresden Ave., pleaded not guilty to armed robbery of a Dresden Ave. service station July 21 in which $60 was taken.

Judge Louis Tobin then set the hearing Aug. 20 at 1 p.m. and set bond for Everhart at $1,000. He failed to make bond and was returned to the detention room at the County Jail.

The youth was cited after he had been identified as the stick-up man by Gary Champ, 22, attendant at the Standard Oil. station at Dresden and Webber Way.

Gunpoint

"He just wanted to tell his story, and he did it, even though he repeated himself several times. When he finished, he finished and that was it."

At that point, Milligan released all hostages except Donald J. Morgan, 47, the commission's chief attorney, and the two pseudo-newsmen.

Sgt. Moore got four glasses of water and the men began to talk.

As Milligan turned his head to pick up a glass of water, Rodriquez leaped at him and grabbed the pistol. Moore joined his fellow officer to overpower the husky pipefitter.

There was one wild shot from Milligan's gun, but Moore said, "I don't think he felt like killing anybody."

Reactions of the prisoners varied.

C. Blaine Dunford, 59, employed in the commission's records department, emerged first. He was crying.

"I'm sorry," he said, "but I just can't help it."

He described his fear as greater than what he experienced when he was employed in Honolulu the day the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor.

Next was Dr. Leo L. Tuveson, 51, attending the hearing to testify against Milligan's disability claim.

"All in a day's work," said the physician.

Also held was Loren G. Shelley, 33, a commission attorney.

Said Shelley when he telephoned his wife: "I'll be heading home shortly."

Milligan said nothing as he was led away. He was booked on charges of assault with a deadly weapon and investigation of sanity.

During the morning hours, Milligan talked frequently by telephone with police in adjacent offices.

Later the pipefitter requested that newsmen be sent in. Moore and Rodriquez removed their guns and posed as reporters. They entered the hearing room at 12:30 p.m. to begin an eight hour wait that ended when Milligan was subdued.

Groups Push Landfill Plan

a stream. R. E. Steebner, Midland borough engineer, said about 500 or 600 feet of pipe would be needed at an estimated cost of about $12,000.

John F. McGovern of Beaver, state health inspector, said he believes use of the pipe would be satisfactory but approval would be necessary from the State Sanitary Board.

He agreed to view the site with officials. Midland Mayor Eli Corak suggested the Smiths Ferry site, which is about 2½ miles from Midland, after reporting that it took 45 minutes travel time to another possible site in Brighton Township. He said too much travel time "is disastrous" to a working force.

The proposed site would be reached by Ohioville by using Route 168 and then Route 68 since the old Smiths Ferry Rd., a shorter route, is presently too narrow for the passing of a truck and auto.

McGovern pointed out that the three areas have different problems. Midland has an incinerator for its garbage but needs a place for dumping rubbish.

Ohioville, which is growing, needs a place for dumping and in Brighton Township, present haulers are using a dump which is not in the "good graces" of the state. Ohioville Borough also has haulers who charge residents fees.

As to whether the Smiths Ferry site might be too far away for Brighton Township, its officials said the idea was new and they could say nothing now.

Daniel C. Baker, Ohioville Borough engineer, suggested that officials also consider other locations.

Corak suggested that a location could be leased for a long period, that equipment could be purchased for covering the landfill and an operator hired. He said this would be more economical and there would be no bother with rates.

Also attending from Midland were Councilmen Joseph Hibbard, Raymond Presutti and William Shovlin and Street Foreman Matt Brozic. Attending from Brighton Township were supervisors Wilbur Barnes, chairman, Raymond Lewis, Charles Memick and Bob Flick, secretary.

Baker, who is also chairman of the borough's Municipal Authority, reported on progress for obtaining water.

He said plans are being held up now as he waits for word from the state concerning construction plans of Route 168. The proposed line from Midland would meet and follow the road.

Recently the Midland authority agreed to furnish a line from the Midland Heights reservoir to the borough line at an estimated cost of $25,000 since Ohioville plans to get its water there. Baker had reported there were 300 to 400 immediate users available.

He said the improvements are up to the people, that they cannot be forced but the water lines are not possible unless people sign for its use.

Applications may be made with Baker or Wilbur Basinger, authority secretary, at the Basinger & Gifford Agency in Midland. A $25 deposit is necessary from residents making application. The cost of tapping on will be $200 for those applying now and later on after lines are obtained, the tapping fee will be $300. The monthly water fee will be $7.

The deadline for applications will probably be about Oct. 1, Baker said. He plans to have Basinger advertise a notice that applications are available and announced a deadline.

A deadline is necessary in order that final plans may be drawn up and submitted to a bonding firm for financing. Baker said the $7 a month fee would carry the bonded indebtedness.

Present plans call for servicing the residential area along Route 168, the Fairview Rd. onto Tuscarawas Rd. to just beyond Engle Rd., and some on Ridgemont Dr. and the Engle Rd. section to the Industry Borough Line.

An area which the authority hopes to add is that taking in Tuscarawas Rd., Ohioville, Smiths Ferry Rd., Salem Church Rd. and Pleasantview Dr.

Councilmen Richard Rice, Lester Chaffee and George Daniels Jr., Council president, plan to offer applications to residents in the Ohioville area. Baker said at least 80 per cent of the residents are required.

Baker estimated it would be another month or more before his authority meets with Midland's to iron out final details of Midland's agreement over the line. He said he has been going over details with the Midland engineer.

Concerning Route 168, Martin reported that in answer to a letter from the borough of July 11, inquiring about the road, that he has referred the request to Robert Klucher, district engineer, for a review and report to Martin's office and then a report will be made to the borough on any plans to correct conditions.

It has been reported that the state will probably be awarded bids this fall for construction a new road on Route 168 and work would begin in the spring in order that school buses would not have to travel a torn up road during the winter. The Beaver County division of the highway department is presently working on the road's berms.

Mrs. Carroll read minimum specifications drawn up by Baker for the improvement of streets in the Reed Plan in order for the borough to accept and maintain them. She was instructed to send the specifications to C. W. Reed and inform him that subdivision requirements, being drawn up now by Baker, will be higher.

A fire ordinance did not pass as submitted by Atty. Sam B. Wilson of Beaver, borough solicitor. Council asked that other provisions be added to allow the burning of brush and the requirement of a permit for any open burning except in barbecue pits and open fire places. Brush fires last spring prompted the ordinance.

An ordinance allowing the Duquesne Light Co. to erect and use its equipment and lines to supply electricity in the borough was tabled until Council learns whether the ordinance prohibits the borough from a requesting relocation of poles when necessary.

Concerning high weeds along roads in some spots, it was agreed that several councilmen will seek sealed bids for machine work on an hourly basis. Council said anyone could submit bids.

Council agreed to let the state handle any borough health problems rather than set up its own health board. The county health office had requested a decision.

Council approved purchase of an electric adding machine, costing about $152, and a dozen flares, which police may use at accidents, costing 35 cents each. Exonerations were made concerning the per capita tax of several elderly residents while one exoneration was tabled.

Mayor Elmer Gifford reported that dogs are still a problem and that residents have had sufficient warning and action will now be taken to dispose of strays.

Police Chief Bernard Zlatovich also reported to Council. James Petrella, a resident, reported that a high bank and trees at two corners at the Fairview crossroads hinder the view of motorists pulling out of the intersection. Baker said the state could correct the condition if approval could be obtained from the property owners.

A bank balance of $11,123.48 was reported for the general fund as of July 31, subject to checks. Bills in the amount of $4,210.45, including $950 in wages due Baker last year, were approved. Receipts of $1,000.71 in real estate taxes, and $255 per capita taxes, totaling $1,255.71, were reported received.

Lions At Midland Enter Bowling

Plans to again sponsor a bowling team beginning in September were discussed at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Midland Lions Club Thursday evening at the club pavilion on Murphy Hill Rd. Leslie B. Roach, president, presided.

Plans were also outlined for the club meeting of Aug. 23 when wives of members will be guests at a picnic supper at the pavilion.

Jerome Morris and Claude Reed will be in charge of the food, and Paul McGeehan, the entertainment, which will include dancing.

Paul Schlosser, past president, reported on the meeting of the Beaver County Council of Lions Club last week at the Brighton Township Club's pavilion. Roach also attended.

Louis Vassallo will be program chairman for next Thursday's meeting at the pavilion. Roast lamb and roast pig will be served.

Area Man Improves From Electric Burns

Louis Fernandez, 34, of Lisbon R. D. 1, employe of an electrical contracting firm, is in "fair" condition today at Alliance City Hospital with electric burns suffered Wednesday while working atop a utility pole near Malvern.

An employe of the Hoosier Engineering Co. of New Philadelphia, Fernandez received burns of the right leg and left arm when a drill he was using came in contact with a 12,000-volt line.

Police Push Dayton Hunt

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Police officers continued searching through the night for clues in the disappearance of the city's 26-year-old commissioner, David Pottinger.

The Republican official failed to return home Wednesday night after attending a commission meeting. His red station wagon was found on an East Side street. Type O blood stains were found on the vehicle's gearshift and control panel. Although Pottinger was said to have the same type blood, further tests were to be conducted to determine whether the blood factor was positive or negative.

Pottinger, vice president and director of the Pottinger insurance sales, was believed to have carried about $2,100 in cash at the time of his disappearance, leading to a possible robbery motive. Later the city police chief and prosecutor thought the disappearance might have had some connection with information on vice activities in the city on which Pottinger was working.

Funds Approved For Building Of Highway Office

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Controlling Board has approved unanimously transferring funds to finance construction of a $6 million Highway Department office building on the north side of the present State Office Building.

The board approved Thursday transfering $1 million in unspent highway funds from the past fiscal year to supplement $4,939,096 remaining of a $5 million appropriation for the building. The additional $1 million was asked to add a seventh floor to the building.

In other action the board declined to approve a package reallocation of $4.5 million in unused juvenile and mental health funds without a detailed breakdown of how the funds are to be used to increase staffs in both divisions. House Speaker Roger Cloud R - Logan, said he voted against the package allocation because he wants to know exactly where the money is going and from where it comes.

Daniel C. Baker, Ohioville Borough engineer, suggested that officials also consider other locations.

Corak suggested that a location could be leased for a long period, that equipment could be purchased for covering the landfill and an operator hired. He said this would be more economical and there would be no bother with rates.

Also attending from Midland were Councilmen Joseph Hibbard, Raymond Presutti and William Shovlin and Street Foreman Matt Brozic. Attending from Brighton Township were supervisors Wilbur Barnes, chairman, Raymond Lewis, Charles Memick and Bob Flick, secretary.

Baker, who is also chairman of the borough's Municipal Authority, reported on progress for obtaining water.

He said plans are being held up now as he waits for word from the state concerning construction plans of Route 168. The proposed line from Midland would meet and follow the road.

Recently the Midland authority agreed to furnish a line from the Midland Heights reservoir to the borough line at an estimated cost of $25,000 since Ohioville plans to get its water there. Baker had reported there were 300 to 400 immediate users available.

He said the improvements are up to the people, that they cannot be forced but the water lines are not possible unless people sign for its use.

Applications may be made with Baker or Wilbur Basinger, authority secretary, at the Basinger & Gifford Agency in Midland. A $25 deposit is necessary from residents making application. The cost of tapping on will be $200 for those applying now and later on after lines are obtained, the tapping fee will be $300. The monthly water fee will be $7.

The deadline for applications will probably be about Oct. 1, Baker said. He plans to have Basinger advertise a notice that applications are available and announced a deadline.

A deadline is necessary in order that final plans may be drawn up and submitted to a bonding firm for financing. Baker said the $7 a month fee would carry the bonded indebtedness.

Present plans call for servicing the residential area along Route 168, the Fairview Rd. onto Tuscarawas Rd. to just beyond Engle Rd., and some on Ridgemont Dr. and the Engle Rd. section to the Industry Borough Line.

An area which the authority hopes to add is that taking in Tuscarawas Rd., Ohioville, Smiths Ferry Rd., Salem Church Rd. and Pleasantview Dr.

Councilmen Richard Rice, Lester Chaffee and George Daniels Jr., Council president, plan to offer applications to residents in the Ohioville area. Baker said at least 80 per cent of the residents are required.

Baker estimated it would be another month or more before his authority meets with Midland's to iron out final details of Midland's agreement over the line. He said he has been going over details with the Midland engineer.

Concerning Route 168, Martin reported that in answer to a letter from the borough of July 11, inquiring about the road, that he has referred the request to Robert Klucher, district engineer, for a review and report to Martin's office and then a report will be made to the borough on any plans to correct conditions.

It has been reported that the state will probably be awarded bids this fall for construction a new road on Route 168 and work would begin in the spring in order that school buses would not have to travel a torn up road during the winter. The Beaver County division of the highway department is presently working on the road's berms.

Mrs. Carroll read minimum specifications drawn up by Baker for the improvement of streets in the Reed Plan in order for the borough to accept and maintain them. She was instructed to send the specifications to C. W. Reed and inform him that subdivision requirements, being drawn up now by Baker, will be higher.

A fire ordinance did not pass as submitted by Atty. Sam B. Wilson of Beaver, borough solicitor. Council asked that other provisions be added to allow the burning of brush and the requirement of a permit for any open burning except in barbecue pits and open fire places. Brush fires last spring prompted the ordinance.

An ordinance allowing the Duquesne Light Co. to erect and use its equipment and lines to supply electricity in the borough was tabled until Council learns whether the ordinance prohibits the borough from a requesting relocation of poles when necessary.

Concerning high weeds along roads in some spots, it was agreed that several councilmen will seek sealed bids for machine work on an hourly basis. Council said anyone could submit bids.

Council agreed to let the state handle any borough health problems rather than set up its own health board. The county health office had requested a decision.

Council approved purchase of an electric adding machine, costing about $152, and a dozen flares, which police may use at accidents, costing 35 cents each. Exonerations were made concerning the per capita tax of several elderly residents while one exoneration was tabled.

Mayor Elmer Gifford reported that dogs are still a problem and that residents have had sufficient warning and action will now be taken to dispose of strays.

Police Chief Bernard Zlatovich also reported to Council. James Petrella, a resident, reported that a high bank and trees at two corners at the Fairview crossroads hinder the view of motorists pulling out of the intersection. Baker said the state could correct the condition if approval could be obtained from the property owners.

A bank balance of $11,123.48 was reported for the general fund as of July 31, subject to checks. Bills in the amount of $4,210.45, including $950 in wages due Baker last year, were approved. Receipts of $1,000.71 in real estate taxes, and $255 per capita taxes, totaling $1,255.71, were reported received.

Area Man Improves From Electric Burns

Louis Fernandez, 34, of Lisbon R. D. 1, employe of an electrical contracting firm, is in "fair" condition today at Alliance City Hospital with electric burns suffered Wednesday while working atop a utility pole near Malvern.

An employe of the Hoosier Engineering Co. of New Philadelphia, Fernandez received burns of the right leg and left arm when a drill he was using came in contact with a 12,000-volt line.

Police Push Dayton Hunt

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Police officers continued searching through the night for clues in the disappearance of the city's 26-year-old commissioner, David Pottinger.

The Republican official failed to return home Wednesday night after attending a commission meeting. His red station wagon was found on an East Side street. Type O blood stains were found on the vehicle's gearshift and control panel. Although Pottinger was said to have the same type blood, further tests were to be conducted to determine whether the blood factor was positive or negative.

Pottinger, vice president and director of the Pottinger insurance sales, was believed to have carried about $2,100 in cash at the time of his disappearance, leading to a possible robbery motive. Later the city police chief and prosecutor thought the disappearance might have had some connection with information on vice activities in the city on which Pottinger was working.

Funds Approved For Building Of Highway Office

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Controlling Board has approved unanimously transferring funds to finance construction of a $6 million Highway Department office building on the north side of the present State Office Building.

The board approved Thursday transfering $1 million in unspent highway funds from the past fiscal year to supplement $4,939,096 remaining of a $5 million appropriation for the building. The additional $1 million was asked to add a seventh floor to the building.

In other action the board declined to approve a package reallocation of $4.5 million in unused juvenile and mental health funds without a detailed breakdown of how the funds are to be used to increase staffs in both divisions. House Speaker Roger Cloud R - Logan, said he voted against the package allocation because he wants to know exactly where the money is going and from where it comes.

Ohio Woman Attacked In Lounge At Boston

BOSTON (AP)—An Ohio wife, in Boston for a dancing teachers' convention, told police a man attempted to strangle her in a ladies' lounge at the Bradfort Hotel early today.

A man in his late 20s, father of three children, was taken into custody for questioning. He was held on suspicion of attempted rape.

Mrs. Helen Hempleman, 41, of Newark, Ohio, visiting in Boston with her husband, Dorwin, told police the man grabbed her as she entered the lounge, struck her and split her lip and knocked her to the floor.

Her screams brought her husband running, as well as an elevator operator. They subdued the man.

Mrs. Hempleman is attending sessions of the National Association of Dance and Affiliated Artists.

Young Charges Move Hurts Peace Corps

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, has criticized the State Department for setting up a program to compete with the Peace Corps.

Speaking of some 160 college students sent to Uganda to teach natives for three years in a program with Columbia University, Young said the teachers are needed in the United States and would only duplicate the efforts of the Peace Corps.

Young credited the Peace Corps with going an outstanding job and said the teachers sent to Uganda would help the United States more if they were "given places of responsibility in our school system, in government and in our private industry."

Project Chosen At Initial Meeting For BPW Group

A project was chosen at the initial meeting of the civic participation committee of the Business and Professional Women's Club Wednesday night at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Nessie Dunlop, of Highland Colony. Fifteen attended.

The group plans to work with the school system in assisting the teen-ager obtain a diploma after he drops out of school at the age of 16 because of home circumstances.

Mrs. Dunlop led discussions of community leadership and how the group could work toward that aim. In the development of citizenship members decided recognition should be given to good citizenship, because factors of this type are taken for granted.

The committee will enlist ideas to encourage interest in patriotism and community efforts.

Along the lines of educational TV, the group will ask the assistance of a representative of the school system to consider this type of program. Several mentioned the redevelopment program of the federal government and its aims to retrain unemployed workers in skills that are in demand.

At the next meeting, which is pending, the committee will plan the program for the month for which they are responsible.

Leprosy On Increase

Q. Are there many cases of leprosy in this country? How is it transmitted?

A. No. The only regions where leprosy occurs to any appreciable extent are those which have a combination of high humidity and tropical climate. Recent studies in South America and the Orient seem to indicate that leprosy is again on the increase. The method of transmission is a mystery, but so far as is known, all victims become infected before they are five years old. It it almost impossible for an adult to acquire the disease. The bacillus which causes leprosy was discovered by Dr. Hansen and the condition is sometimes referred to as Hansen's disease.

Leprosy Organisms

Undulant Fever

Q. Do city people ever contract undulant fever?

A. Yes. The greatest frequency of undulant fever is among packing house workers and veterinarians. The rate among such people is over five times higher than that in farm workers.

Coffee - Kidneys

Q. When I drink coffee (any kind) my kidneys act. Can you tell me why?

A. The ingestion of coffee, tea, cocoa, and other related beverages has long been known to result in a diuretic (kidney-stimulating) effect. This is due to the presence in these beverages of certain xanthine drugs — such as caffeine and theobromine.

Ohio Woman Attacked In Lounge At Boston

BOSTON (AP)—An Ohio wife, in Boston for a dancing teachers' convention, told police a man attempted to strangle her in a ladies' lounge at the Bradfort Hotel early today.

A man in his late 20s, father of three children, was taken into custody for questioning. He was held on suspicion of attempted rape.

Mrs. Helen Hempleman, 41, of Newark, Ohio, visiting in Boston with her husband, Dorwin, told police the man grabbed her as she entered the lounge, struck her and split her lip and knocked her to the floor.

Her screams brought her husband running, as well as an elevator operator. They subdued the man.

Mrs. Hempleman is attending sessions of the National Association of Dance and Affiliated Artists.

Young Charges Move Hurts Peace Corps

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, has criticized the State Department for setting up a program to compete with the Peace Corps.

Speaking of some 160 college students sent to Uganda to teach natives for three years in a program with Columbia University, Young said the teachers are needed in the United States and would only duplicate the efforts of the Peace Corps.

Young credited the Peace Corps with going an outstanding job and said the teachers sent to Uganda would help the United States more if they were "given places of responsibility in our school system, in government and in our private industry."

Project Chosen At Initial Meeting For BPW Group

A project was chosen at the initial meeting of the civic participation committee of the Business and Professional Women's Club Wednesday night at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Nessie Dunlop, of Highland Colony. Fifteen attended.

The group plans to work with the school system in assisting the teen-ager obtain a diploma after he drops out of school at the age of 16 because of home circumstances.

Mrs. Dunlop led discussions of community leadership and how the group could work toward that aim. In the development of citizenship members decided recognition should be given to good citizenship, because factors of this type are taken for granted.

The committee will enlist ideas to encourage interest in patriotism and community efforts.

Along the lines of educational TV, the group will ask the assistance of a representative of the school system to consider this type of program. Several mentioned the redevelopment program of the federal government and its aims to retrain unemployed workers in skills that are in demand.

At the next meeting, which is pending, the committee will plan the program for the month for which they are responsible.

Senators Given Story Of Zanesville's Buses

WASHINGTON (AP) — The story of how Zanesville, Ohio, saved its bus system without federal or municipal money was recounted in the Senate Thursday by Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio.

Lausche described the city's program in his argument against the $500 million mass transportation bill. He told how Zanesville sold stock to the public at $10 a share to raise the $18,000 needed to start operations after the local bus company quit business.

Reading a letter from R. W. Pruden, manager of the Zanesville Chamber of Commerce, Lausche said the bus drivers put up $3,600, and within 10 days 865 other citizens bought $34,250 worth of stock — more than enough to buy the buses outright and leave a large operating balance.

City Triangle Referred To Lisbon Court

A classic "triangle" case was referred to Juvenile Court at Lisbon today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff after he fined the two male participants $25 and costs each on charges of disorderly conduct by fighting.

The defendants were Bernard Holt of E. 3rd St. and Walter Hornbeck of Lee St. Holt told the judge the fight erupted when he went to the home of his estranged wife on Lincoln Ave. at midnight and found Hornbeck there.

Questioned by the court, Holt admitted he was under an order from Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin not to go to his wife's home. Judge Chertoff then said he will refer both men to Juvenile Court —Holt for violation of the court's order and Hornbeck because he is a married man with several children.

"I'm separated from my wife," Holt told the court. "But I had heard she was entertaining men in her home. We have a boy, 13, and two girls, 8 and 9. I went up there and he was there. He is a married man with four or five children."

"I went to the house and knocked," Holt related. "He came to the door like he was the man of the house. They wouldn't let me in. She tried to take him out through the cellar door, but I was there to meet them. He started to swing and then I started to swing."

"I'm not interested in the marital difficulties of either one of you," the judge said after talking with Hornbeck. "You got yourselves in; now get yourselves out."

Then he told Holt he had "defied the court's order" by going to his wife's home.

"This case will be referred in all its aspects to Judge Tobin for appropriate action," Judge Chertoff said after imposing the fines on the two. Both pleaded guilty.

Mayor Fines Driver, Clears Motorcyclist

SUMMITVILLE — A Salineville area man was fined for speeding and a Lisbon area motorcyclist was cleared of a similar charge at hearings held Thursday night by Mayor Ernest Phillips.

William A. Turner of Salineville R. D., formerly of Canton, was fined $15 and costs — with $10 suspended — for speeding Wednesday night. He was cited by Constable Forrest Young.

A speeding charge against Merle A. Dawson, 24, of Lisbon R. D. was dismissed when he showed evidence the carburetor of his cycle caused inadvertent acceleration.

4-H News

Final judging was held and members demonstrated projects at a meeting of the Cedar KWH 4-H Club Tuesday afternoon with Jim Risinger of Negley.

A bowling session was held, followed by refreshments at a dairy store. The group will meet again Aug. 14. Mrs. Leo Jenkins is advisor.

Death Takes Deaf And Blind Woman Who Battled For Son

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Georgia Hathaway, a deaf and blind woman whose battle to rear her own baby aroused nationwide attention in 1955, is dead of a heart attack.

The 43-year - old woman died shortly before midnight Thursday at Akron General Hospital, where she was taken July 22.

Mrs. Hathaway had known for some time that her rheumatic heart condition was serious, but she had told friends she hoped she might live until her son, Clarence, grew up.

Clarence is only 7, but in many ways he already is grown up. For the last few years he has been the eyes and ears of his parents. He helped with household chores, answered the telephone and the door bell at their home in nearby Stow and helped with the shopping.

His father, Harold, 60, also is deaf and blind.

The Hathaways were married in Kansas after a romance conducted by letters written in braille. When Clarence, who has normal hearing and vision, was born Feb. 17, 1955, his mother insisted she could take care of him. Welfare authorities were not so sure, and the case went to Juvenile Court Judge Russell W. Thomas, who ruled that the couple could keep their child.

Mrs. Hathaway was aided in her task by visiting nurses. The couple's main source of income has been welfare aid.

Partisan Primary Move Launched

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A semi - retired Cleveland accountant, filing a taxpayer's action, has asked the Ohio Supreme Court to order a partisan primary to nominate candidates for mayor of Cleveland.

Attorneys for Nelson J. Galvin filed a mandamus action Thursday seeking a Sept. 22 deadline for filing candidate petitions, an Oct. 2 primary and a ban on any petitions by independents for the Nov. 6 election.

The election is necessary to fill the unexpired term of Anthony J. Celebrezze, who resigned to become secretary of health, education and welfare. Serving as acting mayor is Ralph S. Locher, former city law director.

A citizens committee has asked Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court to say whether a partisan or non - partisan primary should be conducted. Galvin's attorneys said a decision by the Supreme Court would take precedence.

New Trial Rejected In Tax Evasion Case

CYNTHIANA, Ky. (AP)—U.S. District Court Judge Mac Swinford has turned down a motion for a new trial for eight men convicted of conspiring to evade gambling excise taxes.

Swinford, who overruled the motion at a hearing Thursday, set bond for the men, convicted by a U.S. District Court jury at Covington July 28.

The men are Frank Andrews, Peter Andrews, Frank Andriola, Russell Malone, Walter Owens, Gus Postell, Louis Type and Willard Whitley.

Gas Line's Expansion Will Help Ohio Areas

DETROIT (AP)—The Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co. has started construction on a $68.9 million expansion of pipeline facilities that will bring an average 25 per cent increase in natural gas supplies to five Ohio utility companies.

Announcing this today, James R. Sykes of New York, Panhandle general sales manager, said the increased supply would reach the utilities in time for marketing this winter.

Sykes said Panhandle would increase its deliveries to the East Ohio Gas Co., Cleveland, by 20 per cent annually and to the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., Columbus, by 42 per cent.

Other supply increases are scheduled for Central States Natural Gas Co., Paulding, by 7 per cent annually; Ohio Gas Co. Bryan, by 13 per cent, and Toledo Edison Co., serving Defiance, by 9 per cent.

New Chlorinator Put To Use At Wellsville

A $1,226.95 chlorinator purchased a month ago was placed in operation Thursday at Wellsville's water filtering plant, Safety-Service Director Fred Baldasare said.

The new equipment replaces an obsolete chlorinator in use about 25 years.

The plant now has equipment to treat water ahead of the filters and protect the sand in the filtering beds, the director said.

A project of placing new sand in all four filters at the water plant was completed recently. The sand that was replaced had become useless.

Bids Opened On Project At Legion Home

Six bids, ranging from $1,200 to $1,400, for dismantling the top section of the Wellsville American Legion Post 70 home, were opened by an advisory committee helping to decide the fate of the fire-damaged brick structure at a meeting Thursday night.

The offers filed by local contractors for dismantling the second story and attic were narrowed to three by the advisory committee headed by Mayor W. W. Daugherty.

The committee will submit one for consideration of the post at a special meeting Monday night at 8 in a section of the building left undamaged by the fire, Francis House, adjutant, said.

If a contract is awarded for razing the top section, plans will be made later on the type of construction to be selected for the new post quarters.

The successful bidder will leave the outside walls of the second story untouched until plans are decided for the new quarters.

Twenty-five attended Thursday night's special meeting at the post home. Members of the advisory committee are Mayor Daugherty, Atty. Delmar T. O'Hara, Tom Piatt, William Bratt, Jerome Gitschier and Don Brewer. William (Buck) Powell is commander.

The orchid can produce as many as 186,300 separate seeds.

Sunnyside Committee Will Meet With Mayor

The Sunnyside Citizens Committee will meet Tuesday night at 7:30 with Mayor Bert H. Goodballet in his office at City Hall to hear a report of the mayor's conference at Columbus Tuesday with State Highway Department officials on a request for a vehicular ramp to link up the two deadend sections of W. 9th St.

The mayor and Engineer George S. Bloomgren conferred with the state officials on the Highway Department's plans to make a formal application to the Federal Bureau of Public Roads for approval of the ramp project. The state officials promised to act within 30 days.

James Grafton heads the Sunnyside committee.

Canton Is Cooperstown Of Football

Two big days of football are on tap next weekend in Canton, the city which has become the Cooperstown of football.

The action will get under way Friday night with the high school stars from the North and South engaging in their 17th annual meeting. The following night on the same battleground — Fawcett Stadium — the pros will take over, with the New York Giants pounding heads with the St. Louis Cardinals.

The pro tilt has been tabbed the Hall of Fame game in connection with the new shrine that will be erected in Canton. Groundbreaking ceremonies are planned the same day.

ONE of the brightest stars flashing his form in the North backfield is Rick Sygar, the shifty Niles halfback who Potter fans saw score four times on the Blue and White in the opener last season.

Sygar has been most impressive and Coach Bill Van Brooklin of Poland, who is handling the North squad, isn't ashamed to tell anyone he is happy to have him on his side.

Sygar scored 178 points last season and it was through his efforts that Niles climbed to the top of the Ohio high school heap.

The 180-pound speedster is headed for the University of Michigan.

Mackall Set At Northwestern . . .

WHEN Bob Mackall, the former Potter All-Ohio quarterback, reports to Northwestern for workouts in September he will be listed as the No. 1 defensive halfback.

Bob earned the position during the latter part of the 1961 season and in spring training this year.

The speedster, who thrilled Potter fans with his dashes from the quarterback slot, will be a junior when he returns to Evanston.

We will never forget Mackall's 70-yard dash through the mud at Steubenville during the 1959 season for East Liverpool's only touchdown in a 6-2 victory over Central. That was one of his most thrilling gallops.

Bob doesn't quite hit the 170-pound mark and will be one of the lighest players on the Northwestern squad.

MACKALL, Ken Cunningham and their former coach Lou Venditt, now of Canton Central, attended the Cleveland - Minnesota game last week together to watch another Potter quarterback, Bernie Allen, perform for the Twins.

Call It Teamwork . . .

THE COACHING staff at East Liverpool High School sticks pretty close together even when it calls for emergency ambulance service for expectant mothers. However, there is just one hitch, they never wind up taking their own wife to the hospital.

There have been new additions in the families of head football coach Bob Hedmond and assistant Rey Peduzzi. They're both boys, too, and potential gridiron material.

Last Saturday, Vivi Peduzzi was rushed to the hospital, but not by Rey, but by his boss, Hedmond. Rey was teaching drivers' training at the time and since the Hedmonds live in the same neighborhood, Bob was called to drive to the hospital.

On the way to the hospital Hedmond passed Peduzzi who was in the drivers' training car. However, Rey was not aware at the time that it was his wife, he thought it was Mrs. Hedmond, until Bob yelled, "It's your wife." Rey dropped everything and followed them to the hospital.

Wednesday evening, Jim Harris, the Potters' head basketball coach, who also lives in the same neighborhood, was called upon to make a quick trip to the hospital. Yes, you guessed it. He took Betty Hedmond there. Bob was at Patterson Field with the physical fitness program.

While it was the first child for the Peduzzis, the Hedmonds now have three boys.

Pony League Reaches Goal . . .

THE response for the call of "help" from the East Liverpool Pony League to raise funds so the local team could pay expenses to a tournament at Parkersburg has been great.

The people who donated so generously deserve a big thanks and we are certain Pony League officials are very grateful.

A total of $118 was raised Thursday night when the Pony Leaguers canvassed the downtown area while another $56 was left at James Locke's store. Locke is president of the Pony League which is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club.

This morning, $27 came in by mail pushing the figure to slightly over the goal of $200.

Now all the Pony Leaguers have to do is go out and win. They play Monday at 6 p. m. at Parkersburg opposing Bellaire-Shadyside.

AL ALOI, the leading scorer of the Midland Leopards undefeated basketball team this past season, is serving as a counselor at the Western Pennsylvania Basketball Camp directed by Ed McCluskey, Farrell High coach and held at Gannon College in Erie, Pa.

The last week of this month, Aloi will attend Bob Cousey's basketball school at Pittsfield, New Hampshire. Aloi hasn't made up his mind as yet on what college he will attend.

A FORMER member of the Harlem Globetrotters is located in East Liverpool now and expects to play some basketball in the district this coming season.

He is Les Davenport, who is residing with friends on Fairview St. Les played on the same team with the great Goose Tatum and Marcus Haynes for three years from 1946-1948.

A former star at Youngstown South, the Globetrotters spotted Davenport when he was performing for Army teams and signed him immediately after his discharge.

Angels Edge Tribe; Umpire Gets Into Act

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Umpires generally are cautioned to be as unobtrusive as possible. But there are times when their nimble minds, not-so-nimble feet, the nature of their job or human error put them in center stage.

Like Thursday when the not-so-nimble feet of Bill Kinnamon got in the way of a potential double by Al Kaline and turned the probable hit into a rally-killing out as Detroit lost to Kansas City 5-4.

It was all according to the rules, however. A batted ball that hits an umpire is still in play.

In other games, Los Angeles fought off Cleveland 5-4 and closed up half a game on the idle, leading Yankees. Third-place Minnesota rallied for a 6-3 victory over Baltimore. Boston beat Chicago 7-4. New York and Washington were not scheduled.

With two Tigers on and one out, Kaline drilled a hard shot down the third base line and it appeared headed into the corner for a double. Kinnamon jumped, trying to avoid the ball, but it caromed off his leg. A's shortstop Billy Consolo scooped it up, trapped the lead runner, Don Buddin, in a rundown and the A's got out of it.

A three-run homer by Norm Siebern was the big hit, while Kaline had a two-run blast for the losers.

Relief man Art Fowler chopped off a last-inning Cleveland rally with one run in and the bases loaded in the ninth as the Angels closed to within 5½ games of New York. Fowler came on with one out in the ninth, allowing a run-scoring sacrifice fly to Bubba Phillips, an infield single to Willie Tasby which loaded the bases, then retired Chuck Essegian on a foul fly.

Minnesota rushed in four runs on only one hit, a single, in the ninth inning rally that beat Baltimore. A walk, a fielder's choice, two more walks, two passed balls and a wild pitch on Hoyt Wilhelm's knuckleball produced one run. Vic Power's single got two more, and an error let in the other.

Lu Clinton and Eddie Bressoud each had three hits in the Red Sox win over Chicago. Rookie Dick Radatz held the White Sox to two hits in the last 3 2-3 innings to preserve the victory for Don Schwall (5-11).

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — A Cambridge, Ohio, bow and arrow sharp-shooter set a record Thursday during competition in the National Field Archery Tournament.

James Bell shot a 961 in the men's professional instinctive division, bettering the record of 917 set in 1959. Bell leads the division by 49 points.

Further Tests To Be Run

Ernie Davis Transferred To Hospital In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ernie Davis, the Clevland Browns' ailing rookie halfback, will be transferred here today from Evanston (Ill.) Hospital.

He will be taken immediately to Marymount Hospital, where further tests will be made to determine the nature of the blood disorder which has put him out of action for the 1962 season.

Davis, All-American from Syracuse and the 1961 Heisman Trophy winner, is due to arrive at Cleveland Hopkins Airport early this afternoon. Arthur Modell, Browns' president, and Marsh Samuel, the public relations director for the club, are accompanying him.

Davis had been slated to play with the College All-Stars against the Green Bay Packers at Soldiers' Field in Chicago tonight. But he probably will watch the game on television with two friends from Syracuse, Jim and John Brown of the Browns.

Dr. Franklin Kaiser, the Evanston physician who made the preliminary tests on Davis, has forwarded his findings to Dr. Vic Ippolito, the Browns' team physician. A Cleveland blood specialist also is expected to be called in on the case.

Neither Modell nor coach Paul Brown believes the Browns are out of the National Football League race despite the loss of their prize rookie.

"I'm not going to minimize the loss, but I'm not running up any white flag either," Brown said at the club's summer training camp at Hiram.

Reds Cooled Off By St. Louis, 5-1

Frank Howard!

Again!

That's been almost the entire story for the Los Angeles Dodgers recently and, although the script underwent minor changes Thursday night, the result was the same as Howard struck the key blow for a 5-3 victory over Pittsburg.

Howard slammed three homers and drove in 12 runs while the Dodgers swept a three-game series from second-place San Francisco last weekend.

Against the Pirates Thursday night, Howard used a two-run single to win it for the Dodgers. The seventh inning hit off relief ace Elroy Face snapped a 3-3 tie.

The triumph maintained the Dodgers' four-game lead over the second-place Giants, who edged the Chicago Cubs 4-3 to end a four-game losing streak.

Cincinnati got the cooling off treatment from St. Louis as Ernie Broglio pitched a four-hitter to beat the defending champion Reds 5-1. Dick Farrell's five-hit shutout gave Houston a 3-0 triumph over Milwaukee and Philadelphia outslugged the New York Mets 9-4.

Two home runs by Pirate catcher Smoky Burgess built a 3-0 lead for Vern Law, but the Dodgers closed within a run on Tommy Davis' two-run homer in the sixth. In the seventh, Face replaced Joe Gibbon (2-2) on the mound and made a wild throw on Jim Gilliam's bunt, allowing one run to score. He then walked Willie Davis, got Tommy Davis on a double play and walked Ron Fairly before Howard connected. Johnny Podres (8-7) won it with Larry Sherry's relief help.

Veteran left-hander Billy Pierce (9-3) needed Don Larsen's one-out relief help in the ninth to subdue the Cubs after Billy Williams and Andre Rodgers hit consecutive homers. Dick Ellsworth (6-15) lost it.

Broglio (8-4) had the Reds blanked on three singles by Don Blasingame until the ninth when Jerry Lynch doubled and came home on a wild pitch. The Cards made the most of an ineffective evening by Bob Purkey (16-4).

The Colts jumped on Braves' starter Lew Burdette (8-7) for their three runs in the first inning. That finished Burdette. Tony Cloninger, Don Nottebart and Carl Willey held Houston to three hits the rest of the way. But the Braves were unable to touch Farrell (8-13), who allowed only one man to reach second base.

Art Mahaffey (15-9) hit a grand slam homer to support his five-hit pitching. The Phils tagged Craig Anderson (3-12) with the loss.

Calvary Methodist Wins Slow Pitch Tournament

Calvary Methodist, sporting a lineup of sluggers, routed the Collegians 15-3 to capture the championship of the Slow Pitch Tourney Thursday at the Dixonville field.

The champs were presented the winning trophy while a runnerup trophy went to the Collegians.

Woody Pusey, who was presented a trophy as the top hitter in the tournament, lashed out three hits while Jerry Cannon belted a home run and Agnew collected two hits. Pusey had nine hits in 14 trips during the tourney.

Bernie Fickel, the top pitcher in the event based on the earned run average, was the winning hurler allowing the Collegians seven hits.

Al Dawson led the losers with two hits giving him six for six in two games but he wasn't at bat enough times to qualify for the hitting title.

Bat-Tossing Costs Larker Fine Of $75

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Houston first baseman Norm Larker was notified by National League President Warren Giles today that he has been fined $75 for his bat throwing antics in Wednesday night's game with the Braves in Milwaukee.

At the same time, outfielder Al Spangler of the Colts was notified he had been fined $25 for joining Larker in a dispute with plate umpire Augie Donatelli over a called second strike in the 8th inning.

Larker was ejected. After reaching the dugout, he emptied the Houston bat rack, tossing 18 bats onto the playing field.

The Washington Redskins have a new backfield coach in Ray Willsey.

Kubek Joins NY Saturday

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The New York Yankees' Tony Kubek has been discharged from the Army and says he is anxious to exchange his nine-pound infantryman's rifle for a two-pound baseball bat.

Kubek, who served 10 months with Wisconsin's 32nd Division at Ft. Lewis, Wash., said he hopes to join the Yanks in Chicago in time for Saturday's game with the White Sox.

The 26-year-old Kubek, the Yankees' shortstop last season, said, "I'm willing to play anywhere Manager Ralph Houk thinks I can help. It will take only a couple of days to get into condition and adjust to competition."

East End On Top, 9-0

The East End Merchants blanked Knowles, 9-0 as Ratkovich and Walker combined for a three hitter Wednesday in the City Softball League. Dawson and Ken Talbott led the winners with three hits each.

Manager Ralph Houk of the Yankees played American Legion baseball at Lawrence, Kan.

Steubenville Remains Alive In Legion Play

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — An opponent for undefeated Euclid was to be determined today in a playoff between Steubenville (4-1) and Cincinnati Sycamore (3-1) in the state American Legion baseball tournament.

The three teams are the only ones remaining in the double elimination event. Ashtabula, Elyria, Columbus Camp Chase and Marion were knocked out of competition Thursday.

The winner of the Steubenville-Cincinnati playoff will face Euclid Saturday.

In Thursday's games Elyria beat Ashtabula 17-5 and then lost to Steubenville 10-5. Steubenville defeated Marion 13-5 in a morning game. Columbus was beaten twice, 6-1 by Euclid in the morning and 5-3 in an afternoon game with Cincinnati.

James Bell shot a 961 in the men's professional instinctive division, bettering the record of 917 set in 1959. Bell leads the division by 49 points.

In the hunters' round division, Bill Partian of Mansfield, Ohio, was in second place with a 2,085, trailing the leader, Don Cavallero of Los Angeles, by 10 points.

Further Tests To Be Run

Ernie Davis Transferred To Hospital In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ernie Davis, the Clevland Browns' ailing rookie halfback, will be transferred here today from Evanston (Ill.) Hospital.

He will be taken immediately to Marymount Hospital, where further tests will be made to determine the nature of the blood disorder which has put him out of action for the 1962 season.

Davis, All-American from Syracuse and the 1961 Heisman Trophy winner, is due to arrive at Cleveland Hopkins Airport early this afternoon. Arthur Modell, Browns' president, and Marsh Samuel, the public relations director for the club, are accompanying him.

Davis had been slated to play with the College All-Stars against the Green Bay Packers at Soldiers' Field in Chicago tonight. But he probably will watch the game on television with two friends from Syracuse, Jim and John Brown of the Browns.

Dr. Franklin Kaiser, the Evanston physician who made the preliminary tests on Davis, has forwarded his findings to Dr. Vic Ippolito, the Browns' team physician. A Cleveland blood specialist also is expected to be called in on the case.

Neither Modell nor coach Paul Brown believes the Browns are out of the National Football League race despite the loss of their prize rookie.

"I'm not going to minimize the loss, but I'm not running up any white flag either," Brown said at the club's summer training camp at Hiram.

Reds Cooled Off By St. Louis, 5-1

Frank Howard!

Again!

That's been almost the entire story for the Los Angeles Dodgers recently and, although the script underwent minor changes Thursday night, the result was the same as Howard struck the key blow for a 5-3 victory over Pittsburg.

Howard slammed three homers and drove in 12 runs while the Dodgers swept a three-game series from second-place San Francisco last weekend.

Against the Pirates Thursday night, Howard used a two-run single to win it for the Dodgers. The seventh inning hit off relief ace Elroy Face snapped a 3-3 tie.

The triumph maintained the Dodgers' four-game lead over the second-place Giants, who edged the Chicago Cubs 4-3 to end a four-game losing streak.

Cincinnati got the cooling off treatment from St. Louis as Ernie Broglio pitched a four-hitter to beat the defending champion Reds 5-1. Dick Farrell's five-hit shutout gave Houston a 3-0 triumph over Milwaukee and Philadelphia outslugged the New York Mets 9-4.

Two home runs by Pirate catcher Smoky Burgess built a 3-0 lead for Vern Law, but the Dodgers closed within a run on Tommy Davis' two-run homer in the sixth. In the seventh, Face replaced Joe Gibbon (2-2) on the mound and made a wild throw on Jim Gilliam's bunt, allowing one run to score. He then walked Willie Davis, got Tommy Davis on a double play and walked Ron Fairly before Howard connected. Johnny Podres (8-7) won it with Larry Sherry's relief help.

Veteran left-hander Billy Pierce (9-3) needed Don Larsen's one-out relief help in the ninth to subdue the Cubs after Billy Williams and Andre Rodgers hit consecutive homers. Dick Ellsworth (6-15) lost it.

Broglio (8-4) had the Reds blanked on three singles by Don Blasingame until the ninth when Jerry Lynch doubled and came home on a wild pitch. The Cards made the most of an ineffective evening by Bob Purkey (16-4).

The Colts jumped on Braves' starter Lew Burdette (8-7) for their three runs in the first inning. That finished Burdette. Tony Cloninger, Don Nottebart and Carl Willey held Houston to three hits the rest of the way. But the Braves were unable to touch Farrell (8-13), who allowed only one man to reach second base.

Art Mahaffey (15-9) hit a grand slam homer to support his five-hit pitching. The Phils tagged Craig Anderson (3-12) with the loss.

Calvary Methodist Wins Slow Pitch Tournament

Calvary Methodist, sporting a lineup of sluggers, routed the Collegians 15-3 to capture the championship of the Slow Pitch Tourney Thursday at the Dixonville field.

The champs were presented the winning trophy while a runnerup trophy went to the Collegians.

Woody Pusey, who was presented a trophy as the top hitter in the tournament, lashed out three hits while Jerry Cannon belted a home run and Agnew collected two hits. Pusey had nine hits in 14 trips during the tourney.

Bernie Fickel, the top pitcher in the event based on the earned run average, was the winning hurler allowing the Collegians seven hits.

Al Dawson led the losers with two hits giving him six for six in two games but he wasn't at bat enough times to qualify for the hitting title.

Bat-Tossing Costs Larker Fine Of $75

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Houston first baseman Norm Larker was notified by National League President Warren Giles today that he has been fined $75 for his bat throwing antics in Wednesday night's game with the Braves in Milwaukee.

At the same time, outfielder Al Spangler of the Colts was notified he had been fined $25 for joining Larker in a dispute with plate umpire Augie Donatelli over a called second strike in the 8th inning.

Larker was ejected. After reaching the dugout, he emptied the Houston bat rack, tossing 18 bats onto the playing field.

The Washington Redskins have a new backfield coach in Ray Willsey.

Kubek Joins NY Saturday

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The New York Yankees' Tony Kubek has been discharged from the Army and says he is anxious to exchange his nine-pound infantryman's rifle for a two-pound baseball bat.

Kubek, who served 10 months with Wisconsin's 32nd Division at Ft. Lewis, Wash., said he hopes to join the Yanks in Chicago in time for Saturday's game with the White Sox.

The 26-year-old Kubek, the Yankees' shortstop last season, said, "I'm willing to play anywhere Manager Ralph Houk thinks I can help. It will take only a couple of days to get into condition and adjust to competition."

East End On Top, 9-0

The East End Merchants blanked Knowles, 9-0 as Ratkovich and Walker combined for a three hitter Wednesday in the City Softball League. Dawson and Ken Talbott led the winners with three hits each.

Manager Ralph Houk of the Yankees played American Legion baseball at Lawrence, Kan.

Steubenville Remains Alive In Legion Play

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — An opponent for undefeated Euclid was to be determined today in a playoff between Steubenville (4-1) and Cincinnati Sycamore (3-1) in the state American Legion baseball tournament.

The three teams are the only ones remaining in the double elimination event. Ashtabula, Elyria, Columbus Camp Chase and Marion were knocked out of competition Thursday.

The winner of the Steubenville-Cincinnati playoff will face Euclid Saturday.

In Thursday's games Elyria beat Ashtabula 17-5 and then lost to Steubenville 10-5. Steubenville defeated Marion 13-5 in a morning game. Columbus was beaten twice, 6-1 by Euclid in the morning and 5-3 in an afternoon game with Cincinnati.

Packers Rated Overwhelming 23-Point Favorite Tonight

Stars Good, But Packers Seen Better

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The Green Bay Packers, hale, hearty and apparently hungry, figure to give the College All-Stars a going over tonight and the odds favoring them—up to 23 points—are the biggest in the classic football series.

It's not that the All-Stars are that bad, for they have one of the most talented squads of the last 28 years. But it's that the Packers, winner of the 1961 National Football League championship with a crushing 37-0 victory over the New York Giants, are that good.

A crowd upwards of 65,000 will be in Soldier Field for the 29th game in the rivalry sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. It will be televised and broadcast (ABC) starting at 8:45 p.m. EST. The weather outlook is for cloudiness after showers during the day.

The Packers limbered up under Soldier Field lights Thursday night and Coach Vince Lombardi said: "We're ready."

Lombardi has his squad intact—no injuries, and Paul Hornung, Boyd Dowler, Ray Nitschke and Elija Pitts rejoining it after military service.

Such a complement makes the Packers a favorite to repeat in the NFL race this season. And if that's so, how can the All-Stars, who have been in training only three weeks, be given any kind of chance?

Probable starting backfield for the All-Stars are quarterback John Hadl of Kansas, captain of the attacking unit; Angelo Dabiero, Notre Dame; Jim Saxton, Texas, and Curtis McClinton, Kansas.

They are backed by such passers as Roman Gabriel, North Carolina, and Bobby Ply, Baylor; and such turf pounders as Bob Ferguson of Ohio State, Ronnie Bull of Baylor and Lance Alworth of Arkansas.

"Physically, the Packers will find us pretty much of a match," said Head Coach Otto Graham.

Only two players are missing from the original squad. All-America halfback Ernie Davis of Syracuse is out with a blood disorder and Jim Skaggs, 230-pound guard from Washington, fractured a leg in the opening days of training.

The All-Stars haven't won since Graham's first year as head coach, 1958.

N. Cumberland Area Gridders To Report

All boys in the New Cumberland-Pughtown area who are eligible to play junior high football at New Cumberland High School are asked to report to Coach Coe Monday at 10 a. m. in the high school auditorium. The meeting is for registration and the distribution of pre-season physical examination forms.

U.S. Davis Cup Team Set To Meet Mexicans

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The U.S. Davis Cup team hopes to lick the Mexicans this week-end with conventional weapons—tennis rackets.

No special oxygen equipment, no ear-plugs, no gimmicks of any sort.

The non-playing American captain, Bob Kelleher, made this pronouncement today as he prepared for the draw for the best-of-five match series, beginning Saturday at the Chapultepec Sports Center.

"We seriously considered the use of an extra oxygen supply," Kelleher said. "Then, after checking it out thoroughly with medical men, I abandoned the whole idea. I'm afraid we'll be left to our own devices."

Because of the mile-high altitude, affecting both the flight of the ball and the breathing of the players, the Mexicans have been installed as favorites to hand the United States its first defeat in American Zone competition.

In the opening singles Saturday, the Americans plan to use the hard-slugging Chuck McKinley and steady ground-stroker, Jon Douglas. The Mexicans are expected to call on Rafael Osuna, who attends the University of Southern California, and Antonio Palafox, an undergraduate at Corpus Christi (Tex.) University.

In the past, Americans and Australians playing here have used oxygen equipment in the dressing rooms to replenish the players' supply before the matches and during breaks.

Some supporters of the U.S. team have recommended, half in jest, use of ear-plugs to protect them against the noisiness of the crowds.

"We realize we are up against a different type of gallery," the U.S. captain said. "Mexican fans are said to be much like bull fight fans. They cheer wildly for their favorite sons and demonstrate on close line calls.

"But the boys will just have to shut themselves off from these outside distractions. If we can concentrate on tennis and not get rattled, I think we should win."

Entries Close Sunday For Tennis Tourney

Laurin Stacey, director, reminded local tennis players, that Sunday at 6 p. m. is the deadline for entries in the third annual Lions Club Senior Tennis Tournament to be staged Aug. 10, 11 and 12 at the Thompson Park Courts. Joe Brown of Pittsburgh, one of the top players in the area and last year's defending singles champ here, is back in the fold along with the defending doubles team. Stacey also announced the free tennis clinic would be conducted Saturday beginning at 10 a. m.

Carry Back, Ridan Picked In Top Races

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Carry Back, Ridan and a couple of unbeaten 2-year-olds who have yet to win fame and fortune are the star attractions on the American horse racing program Saturday.

Carry Back is the outstanding choice to annex the $50,000-added Whitney at Saratoga Springs, N.Y. Ridan, bidding for the 3-year-old title won by Carry Back in 1961, is the favorite for the $100,000-added American Derby at Arlington Park.

The undefeated 2-year-olds are Ahoy and Never Bend. They are co-favorites for the $100,000 Sapling Stakes at Monmouth Park.

The $20,000-added San Diego handicap over 1 1-16 miles at Del Mar rounds out the major stakes program.

Carry Back, the world's third leading money winner, will be making his first start since running fourth back of Beau Purple, Garwol and Polylad in the July 21 Suburban at Aqueduct. He will tote top weight of 130 pounds.

Ridan, a seven-length winner of the July 14 Arlington Classic in his first start since dropping a nose verdict to Greek Money in the Preakness, is top weighted at 123 pounds for the 1¼ miles of the American Derby.

Monmouth Park officials look for a field of eight in the 6 furlongs of the Sapling.

Ahoy has the best credentials and it wouldn't be surprising to see him go off a slight choice.

183 Youths Seek Top Soap Box Race Prize

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The 25th-All-American Soap Box Derby to be held here Saturday has drawn the biggest field ever entered in the event.

There are 183 boys, champions from cities throughout the United States and in six foreign countries eagerly awaiting the 2 p.m. post time at Derby Downs — a three-lane course of approximately 900 feet.

This is the first time for the derby to be held on Saturday. It was run on Sunday in previous years.

The top prize is a $5,000 scholarship, with the next four finishers also receiving scholarships of lesser value. Other winners in the top nine get encyclopedias, movie cameras and similar prizes.

Bad Weather Balks Search For Airliner

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Bad weather continued today to restrict the search for a Nepal airliner missing with 10 persons aboard. The passengers included two U.S. foreign aid officials.

The DC3 has been missing since Wednesday afternoon on a flight from Katmandu to New Delhi. It is believed to have crashed in the Himalyan foothills, roughly halfway between the two capitals.

DiSalle Stresses Higher Training

ST. MARYS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle took up the case for higher education in Ohio Thursday in a campaign speech at a Chamber of Commerce outing at nearby Villa Nova.

The governor warned that fewer Ohio high school graduates will be able to attend college until the funds appropriated for universities are increased. He also warned that the increasing cost of private education will increase the need for public education.

DiSalle said that although Ohio is listed as a high wage state, its average weekly salary if $100. "How many parents can afford to send two or three of their children to college on this high average earning?" he asked.

"Everytime we increase the cost of education we remove the possibility of opportunity from people who should have it; people who have the ability but not the funds," the governor said.

Packers Rated Overwhelming 23-Point Favorite Tonight

Stars Good, But Packers Seen Better

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The Green Bay Packers, hale, hearty and apparently hungry, figure to give the College All-Stars a going over tonight and the odds favoring them—up to 23 points—are the biggest in the classic football series.

It's not that the All-Stars are that bad, for they have one of the most talented squads of the last 28 years. But it's that the Packers, winner of the 1961 National Football League championship with a crushing 37-0 victory over the New York Giants, are that good.

A crowd upwards of 65,000 will be in Soldier Field for the 29th game in the rivalry sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. It will be televised and broadcast (ABC) starting at 8:45 p.m. EST. The weather outlook is for cloudiness after showers during the day.

The Packers limbered up under Soldier Field lights Thursday night and Coach Vince Lombardi said: "We're ready."

Lombardi has his squad intact—no injuries, and Paul Hornung, Boyd Dowler, Ray Nitschke and Elija Pitts rejoining it after military service.

Such a complement makes the Packers a favorite to repeat in the NFL race this season. And if that's so, how can the All-Stars, who have been in training only three weeks, be given any kind of chance?

Probable starting backfield for the All-Stars are quarterback John Hadl of Kansas, captain of the attacking unit; Angelo Dabiero, Notre Dame; Jim Saxton, Texas, and Curtis McClinton, Kansas.

They are backed by such passers as Roman Gabriel, North Carolina, and Bobby Ply, Baylor; and such turf pounders as Bob Ferguson of Ohio State, Ronnie Bull of Baylor and Lance Alworth of Arkansas.

"Physically, the Packers will find us pretty much of a match," said Head Coach Otto Graham.

Only two players are missing from the original squad. All-America halfback Ernie Davis of Syracuse is out with a blood disorder and Jim Skaggs, 230-pound guard from Washington, fractured a leg in the opening days of training.

The All-Stars haven't won since Graham's first year as head coach, 1958.

N. Cumberland Area Gridders To Report

All boys in the New Cumberland-Pughtown area who are eligible to play junior high football at New Cumberland High School are asked to report to Coach Coe Monday at 10 a. m. in the high school auditorium. The meeting is for registration and the distribution of pre-season physical examination forms.

Carry Back, Ridan Picked In Top Races

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Carry Back, Ridan and a couple of unbeaten 2-year-olds who have yet to win fame and fortune are the star attractions on the American horse racing program Saturday.

Carry Back is the outstanding choice to annex the $50,000-added Whitney at Saratoga Springs, N.Y. Ridan, bidding for the 3-year-old title won by Carry Back in 1961, is the favorite for the $100,000-added American Derby at Arlington Park.

The undefeated 2-year-olds are Ahoy and Never Bend. They are co-favorites for the $100,000 Sapling Stakes at Monmouth Park.

The $20,000-added San Diego handicap over 1 1-16 miles at Del Mar rounds out the major stakes program.

Carry Back, the world's third leading money winner, will be making his first start since running fourth back of Beau Purple, Garwol and Polylad in the July 21 Suburban at Aqueduct. He will tote top weight of 130 pounds.

Ridan, a seven-length winner of the July 14 Arlington Classic in his first start since dropping a nose verdict to Greek Money in the Preakness, is top weighted at 123 pounds for the 1¼ miles of the American Derby.

Monmouth Park officials look for a field of eight in the 6 furlongs of the Sapling.

Ahoy has the best credentials and it wouldn't be surprising to see him go off a slight choice.

183 Youths Seek Top Soap Box Race Prize

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The 25th-All-American Soap Box Derby to be held here Saturday has drawn the biggest field ever entered in the event.

There are 183 boys, champions from cities throughout the United States and in six foreign countries eagerly awaiting the 2 p.m. post time at Derby Downs — a three-lane course of approximately 900 feet.

This is the first time for the derby to be held on Saturday. It was run on Sunday in previous years.

The top prize is a $5,000 scholarship, with the next four finishers also receiving scholarships of lesser value. Other winners in the top nine get encyclopedias, movie cameras and similar prizes.

DiSalle Stresses Higher Training

ST. MARYS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle took up the case for higher education in Ohio Thursday in a campaign speech at a Chamber of Commerce outing at nearby Villa Nova.

The governor warned that fewer Ohio high school graduates will be able to attend college until the funds appropriated for universities are increased. He also warned that the increasing cost of private education will increase the need for public education.

DiSalle said that although Ohio is listed as a high wage state, its average weekly salary if $100. "How many parents can afford to send two or three of their children to college on this high average earning?" he asked.

"Everytime we increase the cost of education we remove the possibility of opportunity from people who should have it; people who have the ability but not the funds," the governor said.

U.S. Davis Cup Team Set To Meet Mexicans

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The U.S. Davis Cup team hopes to lick the Mexicans this week-end with conventional weapons—tennis rackets.

No special oxygen equipment, no ear-plugs, no gimmicks of any sort.

The non-playing American captain, Bob Kelleher, made this pronouncement today as he prepared for the draw for the best-of-five match series, beginning Saturday at the Chapultepec Sports Center.

"We seriously considered the use of an extra oxygen supply," Kelleher said. "Then, after checking it out thoroughly with medical men, I abandoned the whole idea. I'm afraid we'll be left to our own devices."

Because of the mile-high altitude, affecting both the flight of the ball and the breathing of the players, the Mexicans have been installed as favorites to hand the United States its first defeat in American Zone competition.

In the opening singles Saturday, the Americans plan to use the hard-slugging Chuck McKinley and steady ground-stroker, Jon Douglas. The Mexicans are expected to call on Rafael Osuna, who attends the University of Southern California, and Antonio Palafox, an undergraduate at Corpus Christi (Tex.) University.

In the past, Americans and Australians playing here have used oxygen equipment in the dressing rooms to replenish the players' supply before the matches and during breaks.

Some supporters of the U.S. team have recommended, half in jest, use of ear-plugs to protect them against the noisiness of the crowds.

"We realize we are up against a different type of gallery," the U.S. captain said. "Mexican fans are said to be much like bull fight fans. They cheer wildly for their favorite sons and demonstrate on close line calls.

"But the boys will just have to shut themselves off from these outside distractions. If we can concentrate on tennis and not get rattled, I think we should win."

Entries Close Sunday For Tennis Tourney

Laurin Stacey, director, reminded local tennis players, that Sunday at 6 p. m. is the deadline for entries in the third annual Lions Club Senior Tennis Tournament to be staged Aug. 10, 11 and 12 at the Thompson Park Courts. Joe Brown of Pittsburgh, one of the top players in the area and last year's defending singles champ here, is back in the fold along with the defending doubles team. Stacey also announced the free tennis clinic would be conducted Saturday beginning at 10 a. m.

McNeill of Van Wert to hear a Citizens League suit on conduct of the Cleveland mayoral election. The hearing is scheduled for Aug. 13, and documents have been sent to Judge McNeill to study in advance.

Assignment of Judge McNeill was made after consultation with Chief Justice Samuel H. Silbert of Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court.

American Leaders Agree:

New Berlin Crisis In The Making

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Diplomatic Affairs Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev probably will sign a separate peace treaty with Communist East Germany later this year. But it is highly unlikely he will give the German Reds the power to plunge the world into war over Berlin.

American leaders are now generally agreed that a new Berlin crisis is in the making.

They are receiving a steady flow of Soviet-inspired rumors of trouble in European capitals. They get forewarnings, too, through such acts as increased Soviet aircraft operations in the Berlin air corridors and the Red threat to shoot down an American helicopter at Berlin earlier this week.

The signs of a new flareup or crisis are growing almost every day. Yet there is also evidence that Khrushchev has not made all of his final decisions as he continues his pressures to get the United States, Britain and France to abandon West Berlin.

Problems of Berlin strategy and diplomatic and legal issues related to the peace treaty itself are assumed here to be under discussion or planned for discussion between Khrushchev and East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht somewhere on the Black Sea. Ulbricht flew from Berlin to the Soviet Union Wednesday.

The latest direct account of Khrushchev's views was reported to Washington by retiring U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson just before he left Moscow last week. He spent considerable time with the Soviet leader a week ago Wednesday.

Khrushchev is understood to have told Thompson that he would have to make up his mind about the long-threatened peace treaty without too much further delay. He also gave Thompson to understand that he wants to develop further his case for a change in the status of West Berlin. This could mean that he intends to open up the whole issue in the United Nations General Assembly in the fall, again claiming that the continued Western occupation of the city creates a threat of war which could be eliminated if the West would bow to his demands.

Several weeks ago Kennedy called in Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin to try to get across to Khrushchev through the envoy that the United States will not withdraw from West Berlin and will if necessary use force to defend the Communist-encircled city. No one here is really sure yet that Khrushchev believes this message.

Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk are known to believe, however, that if any doubt remains in Khrushchev's mind about Western intentions, it is a fairly small one.

The best informed officials here believe that in the end Khrushchev will choose to avoid war but that he will go through with the peace treaty threat.

Camp Fire Girls Program Discussed For Local Group

About 75 attended an open meeting of the East Liverpool Area Council Wednesday night in the Potters Savings & Loan Co. annex when Miss E. Marie Stranahan of Youngstown discussed the Camp Fire Girl program.

Executive director of the Mahoning Valley Camp Fire Girls, she discussed the program structure, organization, operations, uniforms and other aspects.

Miss Stranahan commented that this is the oldest national program for girls and the prime purpose is developing their individuality.

Concerning membership requirements, she said six girls per unit are necessary to register with no more than 20 permitted. The four program levels are: Blue Birds, comprised of second and third grade girls; the Junior Camp Fire Girls, fourth, fifth and sixth grade; Camp Fire Girls, seventh, eighth and ninth grade levels, and the Horizon Club, girls of high school age.

The program stresses homemaking arts, creativity and femininity. Each member selects the particular field in which she is interested and is assisted in developing future aims.

The uniform denotes individuality also, as the girls design their own jackets representing their interests.

Miss Stranahan was accompanied by Mrs. Robert Jacobs, a leader, who explained the various types of programs used in the area.

Mrs. David Beatty, president, presided and introduced council members, Mrs. William Ogilvie, Mrs. Leslie Blumenthal, Mrs. Perce R. Blake, Mrs. J. Nessly Porter, Mrs. Marvin Kinsey, Mrs. Clarence Nease, Mrs. Donald Ogilvie, Mrs. Charles Bailey, Mrs. Richard J. Bonistalli, Mrs. Sidney Porter, Mrs. H. F. Banfied, Mrs. T. J. Doland, Mrs. Kenneth Myers and Mrs. George Welker.

Mrs. Dan Henderson, field director, noted a large group of mothers present along with several civic representatives.

The council will conduct a two-week survey among the membership to determine the wishes of the majority as to the choice of the Camp Fire Girl program or another field. The group has withdrawn from the Girl Scout movement.

Each neighborhood association will have a meeting during which the aims of this program will be reviewed. Any comments are welcome at the council's office in the bank building.

Pottery Union Reveals Hike In Strike Pay

Strike pay has been boosted from $25 to $35 weekly, the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters revealed today.

In an announcement in the official newspaper, The Potters Herald, the IBOP said the boost in benefits for strikers was voted at the 68th annual convention in San Francisco.

At the same time, the convention cut from six months to three months the time a new local union must be affiliated with the international before its members are eligible for strike benefits, the IBOP said.

The newspaper referred to the strike as labor's "weapon of last resort." It said a threat of a potential strike "should create a greater willingness on the part of management to get down to cases quicker..."

The union said "no bona fide union adheres to a strike threat to strengthen its position at the bargaining table but there are times when it has no other alternative" after management hints the members would desert the union rather than answer a strike call.

The IBOP said the convention also endorsed the Executive Board's organizing efforts, particularly moves to unionize office workers and production and maintenance employes in plants in the international's jurisdiction.

Dante, in his "Inferno", said "Abandon hope, all ye who enter here."

Senate Hearing Set On New Trade Law

The International Brotherhood of Operative Potters has been allocated 10 minutes for its spokesmen to testify before the Senate Finance Committee on the proposed renewal of the foreign trade bill, the union said today.

The Senate group will be the last Congressional committee to hold hearings on the measure, the IBOP said. The union joined with manufacturers' organizations last week in testimony before the U. S. Tariff Commission seeking greater protection against foreign competition.

American Leaders Agree:

New Berlin Crisis In The Making

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Diplomatic Affairs Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev probably will sign a separate peace treaty with Communist East Germany later this year. But it is highly unlikely he will give the German Reds the power to plunge the world into war over Berlin.

American leaders are now generally agreed that a new Berlin crisis is in the making.

They are receiving a steady flow of Soviet-inspired rumors of trouble in European capitals. They get forewarnings, too, through such acts as increased Soviet aircraft operations in the Berlin air corridors and the Red threat to shoot down an American helicopter at Berlin earlier this week.

The signs of a new flareup or crisis are growing almost every day. Yet there is also evidence that Khrushchev has not made all of his final decisions as he continues his pressures to get the United States, Britain and France to abandon West Berlin.

Problems of Berlin strategy and diplomatic and legal issues related to the peace treaty itself are assumed here to be under discussion or planned for discussion between Khrushchev and East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht somewhere on the Black Sea. Ulbricht flew from Berlin to the Soviet Union Wednesday.

The latest direct account of Khrushchev's views was reported to Washington by retiring U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson just before he left Moscow last week. He spent considerable time with the Soviet leader a week ago Wednesday.

Khrushchev is understood to have told Thompson that he would have to make up his mind about the long-threatened peace treaty without too much further delay. He also gave Thompson to understand that he wants to develop further his case for a change in the status of West Berlin. This could mean that he intends to open up the whole issue in the United Nations General Assembly in the fall, again claiming that the continued Western occupation of the city creates a threat of war which could be eliminated if the West would bow to his demands.

Several weeks ago Kennedy called in Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin to try to get across to Khrushchev through the envoy that the United States will not withdraw from West Berlin and will if necessary use force to defend the Communist-encircled city. No one here is really sure yet that Khrushchev believes this message.

Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk are known to believe, however, that if any doubt remains in Khrushchev's mind about Western intentions, it is a fairly small one.

The best informed officials here believe that in the end Khrushchev will choose to avoid war but that he will go through with the peace treaty threat.

Camp Fire Girls Program Discussed For Local Group

About 75 attended an open meeting of the East Liverpool Area Council Wednesday night in the Potters Savings & Loan Co. annex when Miss E. Marie Stranahan of Youngstown discussed the Camp Fire Girl program.

Executive director of the Mahoning Valley Camp Fire Girls, she discussed the program structure, organization, operations, uniforms and other aspects.

Miss Stranahan commented that this is the oldest national program for girls and the prime purpose is developing their individuality.

Concerning membership requirements, she said six girls per unit are necessary to register with no more than 20 permitted. The four program levels are: Blue Birds, comprised of second and third grade girls; the Junior Camp Fire Girls, fourth, fifth and sixth grade; Camp Fire Girls, seventh, eighth and ninth grade levels, and the Horizon Club, girls of high school age.

The program stresses homemaking arts, creativity and femininity. Each member selects the particular field in which she is interested and is assisted in developing future aims.

The uniform denotes individuality also, as the girls design their own jackets representing their interests.

Miss Stranahan was accompanied by Mrs. Robert Jacobs, a leader, who explained the various types of programs used in the area.

Mrs. David Beatty, president, presided and introduced council members, Mrs. William Ogilvie, Mrs. Leslie Blumenthal, Mrs. Perce R. Blake, Mrs. J. Nessly Porter, Mrs. Marvin Kinsey, Mrs. Clarence Nease, Mrs. Donald Ogilvie, Mrs. Charles Bailey, Mrs. Richard J. Bonistalli, Mrs. Sidney Porter, Mrs. H. F. Banfied, Mrs. T. J. Doland, Mrs. Kenneth Myers and Mrs. George Welker.

Mrs. Dan Henderson, field director, noted a large group of mothers present along with several civic representatives.

The council will conduct a two-week survey among the membership to determine the wishes of the majority as to the choice of the Camp Fire Girl program or another field. The group has withdrawn from the Girl Scout movement.

Each neighborhood association will have a meeting during which the aims of this program will be reviewed. Any comments are welcome at the council's office in the bank building.

Pottery Union Reveals Hike In Strike Pay

Strike pay has been boosted from $25 to $35 weekly, the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters revealed today.

In an announcement in the official newspaper, The Potters Herald, the IBOP said the boost in benefits for strikers was voted at the 68th annual convention in San Francisco.

At the same time, the convention cut from six months to three months the time a new local union must be affiliated with the international before its members are eligible for strike benefits, the IBOP said.

The newspaper referred to the strike as labor's "weapon of last resort." It said a threat of a potential strike "should create a greater willingness on the part of management to get down to cases quicker..."

The union said "no bona fide union adheres to a strike threat to strengthen its position at the bargaining table but there are times when it has no other alternative" after management hints the members would desert the union rather than answer a strike call.

The IBOP said the convention also endorsed the Executive Board's organizing efforts, particularly moves to unionize office workers and production and maintenance employes in plants in the international's jurisdiction.

Clement Wins In Tennessee

By GAVIN SCOTT

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Tennessee Democrats endorsed ex-Gov. Frank Clement for a third term as governor Thursday and apparently unseated two veteran congressmen who opposed much of President Kennedy's program.

Clement scored an impressive victory over Chattanooga Mayor P. R. Olgiati and Memphis City Commissioner William W. Farris.

Rep. James B. Frazier, bidding for an eighth term, and Rep. J. Carlton Loser, trying for a fourth term, appeared to have been beaten in races so close the winners probably won't be known for certain until the official count. Their opponents endorsed Kennedy's New Frontier legislation and had heavy support of organized labor.

Nearly complete returns showed Clement, 42, swept six of Tennessee's nine congressional districts. His share of the vote stood at 40 per cent, enough for victory in this state that has no runoff primary. It virtually assured him of election in November since Republicans seldom offer serious competition.

With returns from 2,488 of the state's 2,688 precincts, the vote today was Clement 278,734, Olgiati 180,269 and Farris 194,190.

In the Third District of southeast Tennessee, Frazier was edged out by Wilkes T. Thrasher Jr., 41. The unofficial vote from the 11-county district that includes Chattanooga was Thrasher 35,267, Frazier 35,177. Raymond Prater had 2,685 votes.

Loser staged a nip-and-tuck battle in the Fifth (Nashville) District with former State Sen. Richard Fulton, making his third try for the congressional seat.

Final unofficial returns gave Fulton 30,870 votes, Loser 30,767 and Gordon Turner 6,739.

New Blast Aimed At Election Poll

CINCINNATI (AP)—City Councilman James Gilligan has rapped a pre-election poll by the Ohio Information Committee, saying the report represented only special interests.

Gilligan's criticism was aimed at a report Tuesday that State Auditor James A. Rhodes, a Republican, was favored for governor over incumbent Michael V. DiSalle; Democrat Frank J. Lausche had more support for return to the U.S. Senate than opponent John M. Briley, and Ste. Rep. Robert Taft was favored for congressman - at - large over Richard D. Kennedy, Cleveland democrat.

Gilligan contended the committee was "representing the sentiment of probably the most economically reactionary group you could find in Ohio."

William L. Coleman, state Democratic chairman, said also, "It should be noted that this same organization which presently finds a lopsided support for candidate Rhodes also found similarly high support for the unsuccessful right-to-work law of 1958."

Police said Spriggs was booked into jail on an intoxication charge at 12:41 p. m. after he was found lying on the sidewalk on E. 5th St. near the Post Office. The arresting officer left instructions to release Spriggs to his relatives if any could be found, police said.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Fellure, 834 St. George St., his daughter and son-in-law, came to police headquarters at 7:20 p. m. and Spriggs was released to them, police said. HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — John Marshall Briley, Republican nominee seeking to unseat Ohio Democratic Sen. Frank J. Lausche, says the incumbent is making Republican - like sounds to attract votes from both parties.

But he also makes Republican - like sounds when selected groups have their ears pricked up and he has thus beguiled some voters who have been too harried to discriminate between irresolution and mugwumpery . . ."

Living Up To An Image Isn't Easy

The image-making business in Hollywoodland has had some severe setbacks lately.

We no more than get over the shock of learning that Dinah Shore and George Montgomery aren't happy homemakers after all, when we find ourselves being asked to acclimate to the incredible thought of a Loretta Young whose sweet smile may hide behind it something more than sweetness and lights.

Hal Humphrey

"Loretta is a dictator on the set of her TV series, shouting orders, running around punching bobby pins into your hair, changing lines in the script and doing all manner of things which don't match with her image as the saintly soul whose happy thoughts and charm are supposed to be her secret for remaining young, instead of through face-lifts," says Pamela Mason, who can rattle off sentences three times that long without panting.

-:-

IN CASE you are behind on your Hollywood gossip column reading, Pamela is suing Loretta on grounds that daughter Portland Mason was tossed out of "The New Loretta Young Show" because Pamela refused to buy Portland's wardrobe from Loretta's half-sister, Georgianna—who happens to run a dress shop.

John London, Loretta's producer, says this isn't so at all, that Pamela pulled Portland off the set during a rehearsal so she had to be replaced. London does say he had a replacement standing by in anticipation of such "mother trouble."

But what we're concerned with here is image making and the delicate fiber with which it is woven. For years a publicist named Helen Ferguson has devoted herself to revealing Loretta as a disciplined, dedicated actress who never hurt anyone but herself and then quite unintentionally.

AT THE MOMENT, Helen is in a rather uncomfortable predicament, because she also is more or less obligated to create a proper image for Pamela.

"When my husband James walked out on me a few weeks ago, friends advised me to retain Helen Ferguson. They thought," says Pamela, "that my image needed protecting, I guess. At any rate, I called Helen, and she sent wires out to the press, picturing me as the victimized mother or something.

"Really, it's quite frightening, isn't it? There you are with your image, and you can't say what you want, if it isn't what your image says you can say.

"You know, there's nothing wrong with being wrong. Even Marilyn Monroe doesn't appeal to everybody!"

-:-

IMAGE MAKER Helen Ferguson referred calls about Loretta's "misunderstanding" with Portland Mason to the William Morris Agency. But the Morris people quickly bucked them on to producer John London, because they represent Loretta's show and 13-year-old Portland Mason, too, and who wants to lose a client by taking sides?

Should Pamela's breach-of-contract suit for Portland come to court, someone's image is likely to get tilted on its pedestal, and Pamela insists nothing can hurt hers.

"I can bully a young girl, but you can't if you've built up an image as a 'nice woman'—not and get by with it, anyway," says Pamela.

"By the way, Portland wasn't the first to get sacked. Another little girl of the seven playing Loretta's daughters on the series came up to Loretta one day and said, 'Oh, Loretta, I love you.' Loretta turned to someone and shouted, 'Get that kid out of here!' "

YEARS AGO commentator Eric Sevareid did an incisive piece about the "publicity saints" in our society—show business and political personalities who seemed to be beyond criticism because of an almost ethereal screen of immunity with which they had managed to surround themselves.

That list of Eric's has shrunk until hardly anyone is left but Orphan Annie.

Loretta has not given up, however. When the postman rang at the Mason house the other day, he left Portland a letter from her former employer which began, "Dear Portland — shall miss you very much . . ."

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Parents Should Not Shriek Or Yell

Some parents often shout and shriek at their children, especially when these children do over and over what they've been told not to do or fail to do what they've been commanded to do. Whereas some parents seem to have qualms about this ugly practice, some other parents worry over the matter and reveal a strong sense of guilt. More and more mothers are writing me about this problem. For example, a Pennsylvania mother writes: "My biggest problem is yelling and nagging constantly for perfection, like hanging up clothes and neatness all the way around and breaking all other rules along with these.

Dr. Garry Meyers

"I FEEL LIKE an ogre at the end of the day.

"What I'd like to know is how I can do all this through kindness and still have them obey me without yelling."

Yelling by the parent may begin very early, even when the youngster two or three begins to hear the word No or Don't and ignores it. Then the mother or father repeats the command a little louder, continuing to repeat it, perhaps, till it is so loud and shrill that the youngster, supposing the parent is getting mad enough to do something stops.

This would not happen if, after No or Don't were clearly said just once, the youngster failing to obey promptly got a smack on his fundament that really hurt.

Nor would yelling occur in matters like tidying up his room, hanging up his clothes and putting his things away, when he is over five or six, if the child knew clearly what was expected and was not told over and over what to do abut faced an inevitable penalty other than tongue-lashing for each clear dereliction.

IN THE CASES cited by this mother, she, on seeing the child time after time neglecting the same responsibility, reminds him over and over about the neglect, often in angry and shrieking tones.

To the parent with such problems, let me suggest that you clearly define the few most essential responsibilities. Then, without waiting till you are angry, set an effective penalty you can enforce. Be decisive. Then you should not have occasion to yell, even to feel angry.

The way to avoid shrieking and yelling at your child is to establish control measures by which you have no occasion to repeat a command, making no more commands than necessary, in a family atmosphere of understanding and love, being generous with deserved approvals. But no parent should be so foolish as to suppose she can bring up a child in ways he will always suppose are kind ways. Expect him to feel some frustration and to face some unpleasantnesses.

My bulletins, "How to Teach Child to Help at Home," "Educating Your Child in Responsibility" and "Celebrate Your Child's Successes," may be had by sending a self - addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

'Miracle Baby,' 1½, Survives 100-1 Odds And 7 Operations

RUSHMORE, Minn. (AP)—They call him the "miracle baby" and after seven operations in his 18 months it's no wonder.

Todd Groenewold was born March 3, 1961 without a connection between his esophagus and his stomach. The channel through which food must flow came to a dead end.

That meant trouble at once for the infant son of a farm couple, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Groenewold. Dr. R. R. Sawtell of Worthington, Minn., gave the baby oxygen and put him in an incubator.

Todd couldn't keep any food or water down and examination showed the serious trouble. He was taken to University Hospitals in Minneapolis for surgery. In a five-hour operation, surgeons connected the esophagus to the stomach.

A week later this broke down and frail Todd was rushed back for another five hours on the operating table. He was fed milk through a tube inserted directly into his stomach.

In another week a lung collapsed and Todd got bacterial pneumonia.

On April 17 last year a three-hour operation was required to correct the position of the feeding tube. By mid-May Todd weighed more than nine pounds and was sent home.

Doctors said he had survived 100-to-1 odds to live.

In April of this year, it was back to the hospital for three operations.

Now, Todd is back home and thriving much like a normal child. His esophagus still runs outside of Todd's breastbone. When he's about six, doctors will operate to place the tube inside the chest.

Theft Gang Traced

CINCINNATI (AP) — County police say they have tracked down at least 24 youths and probably more are involved in thefts and burglaries in Anderson Twp. Detective Robert Bradford said loot included football equipment from Anderson High School, auto equipment, records and a movie camera.

Akron Slates Project Based On Income Tax

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The City Planning Commission has disclosed a proposed $18 million spending program for Akron between 1966 and 1968. The fate of the program hinges on passage of the proposed one per cent income tax at a special election Aug. 28.

The program calls for $8,518,000 to be spent for improvements on streets, highways and bridges, with the remainder to go for sewer construction, parks and recreation and police, fire and public health improvements.

East End Man Loses $10 In 'Pigeon Drop'

One of the oldest confidence games in the world was worked on an East End man Thursday afternoon, but he learned a valuable lesson cheaply — he was flimflammed out of only $10.

When George Pratt, 710 Central Ave., began to relate the details of his experience with two strangers, police recognized it as the oldest of the well-known swindles — the "pigeon drop."

Pratt, a millworker, told police he was standing on E. 5th St. about 1 p. m. when two strangers approached and pressed a thick bundle of bills into his hand, asking him to hold the money briefly for safe - keeping while they went on another errand.

Wrapped in a handkerchief, he saw what appeared to be several thousand dollars in bills. Pratt turned over to the two strangers the $10 they asked as a guarantee he would not abscond with their "money."

When the two failed to return, Pratt went to police headquarters with the big wad of bills. It proved to be a child's play money, about the same size as conventional currency. The vague glimpse he got of the printing through the white handkerchief made it appear to be real money, Pratt related.

Police found a huge wad of the play money in denominations ranging from $5,000 to $50,000. On the face in letters almost an inch high were the words "Play Money" and "Not Negotiable."

Before it was placed in the handkerchief, the phony money had been folded once lengthwise and then held in place with cellophane tape, police said. The wad was nearly an inch thick.

Police immediately scoured the area, but there was no sign of the two confidence men.

Pratt said one was about 24, stood about 5 feet 6 and was of heavy build. He was wearing brown trousers and a green sweater. The other was about 30, stood about 5 feet 10 inches and was of slender build. He wore a dark shirt, Pratt said.

Insects do not have lungs, and do not breathe through their mouths. Their air is drawn in through minute holes or spiracles in their body segments, and oxygen is carried to all parts of their bodies through intricate systems of branching tubes.

Crash Claims Mother And Her 4 Youngsters

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — A mother and four of her children were killed Thursday night in a one-car accident on Big Run County Road 14 miles northwest of here.

The victims were identified as Mrs. Bessie Lyons, 37, of Rt. 1, Lucasville, daughters Virginia, 15, Peachie Marie, 13, and Barbara Kay, 14 months, and son Ersel Lyons Jr., 12.

Highway patrolmen said the driver of the vehicle, Rosemary Green, 20, also of Lucasville apparently lost control at a small bend in the road near a culvert construction site and hit a tree.

The driver and two other Lyons children, Sam, 8 and Jerry 4, were taken to Portsmouth General Hospital. Miss Green is listed in critical condition. The hospital issued no report on the children.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Parents Should Not Shriek Or Yell

Some parents often shout and shriek at their children, especially when these children do over and over what they've been told not to do or fail to do what they've been commanded to do. Whereas some parents seem to have qualms about this ugly practice, some other parents worry over the matter and reveal a strong sense of guilt. More and more mothers are writing me about this problem. For example, a Pennsylvania mother writes: "My biggest problem is yelling and nagging constantly for perfection, like hanging up clothes and neatness all the way around and breaking all other rules along with these.

"I FEEL LIKE an ogre at the end of the day.

"What I'd like to know is how I can do all this through kindness and still have them obey me without yelling."

Yelling by the parent may begin very early, even when the youngster two or three begins to hear the word No or Don't and ignores it. Then the mother or father repeats the command a little louder, continuing to repeat it, perhaps, till it is so loud and shrill that the youngster, supposing the parent is getting mad enough to do something stops.

This would not happen if, after No or Don't were clearly said just once, the youngster failing to obey promptly got a smack on his fundament that really hurt.

Nor would yelling occur in matters like tidying up his room, hanging up his clothes and putting his things away, when he is over five or six, if the child knew clearly what was expected and was not told over and over what to do abut faced an inevitable penalty other than tongue-lashing for each clear dereliction.

IN THE CASES cited by this mother, she, on seeing the child time after time neglecting the same responsibility, reminds him over and over about the neglect, often in angry and shrieking tones.

To the parent with such problems, let me suggest that you clearly define the few most essential responsibilities. Then, without waiting till you are angry, set an effective penalty you can enforce. Be decisive. Then you should not have occasion to yell, even to feel angry.

The way to avoid shrieking and yelling at your child is to establish control measures by which you have no occasion to repeat a command, making no more commands than necessary, in a family atmosphere of understanding and love, being generous with deserved approvals. But no parent should be so foolish as to suppose she can bring up a child in ways he will always suppose are kind ways. Expect him to feel some frustration and to face some unpleasantnesses.

My bulletins, "How to Teach Child to Help at Home," "Educating Your Child in Responsibility" and "Celebrate Your Child's Successes," may be had by sending a self - addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

'Miracle Baby,' 1½, Survives 100-1 Odds And 7 Operations

RUSHMORE, Minn. (AP)—They call him the "miracle baby" and after seven operations in his 18 months it's no wonder.

Todd Groenewold was born March 3, 1961 without a connection between his esophagus and his stomach. The channel through which food must flow came to a dead end.

That meant trouble at once for the infant son of a farm couple, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Groenewold. Dr. R. R. Sawtell of Worthington, Minn., gave the baby oxygen and put him in an incubator.

Todd couldn't keep any food or water down and examination showed the serious trouble. He was taken to University Hospitals in Minneapolis for surgery. In a five-hour operation, surgeons connected the esophagus to the stomach.

A week later this broke down and frail Todd was rushed back for another five hours on the operating table. He was fed milk through a tube inserted directly into his stomach.

In another week a lung collapsed and Todd got bacterial pneumonia.

On April 17 last year a three-hour operation was required to correct the position of the feeding tube. By mid-May Todd weighed more than nine pounds and was sent home.

Doctors said he had survived 100-to-1 odds to live.

In April of this year, it was back to the hospital for three operations.

Now, Todd is back home and thriving much like a normal child. His esophagus still runs outside of Todd's breastbone. When he's about six, doctors will operate to place the tube inside the chest.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Funeral services for Archer H. Shaw, 86, former chief editorial writer for the Cleveland Plain Dealer, is scheduled for 8 p.m. Saturday at the Daniels Funeral Home in Lakewood.

He died of a heart attack Thursday in his Lakewood apartment.

Shaw spent most of his newspaper career with the Plain Dealer. He also worked four years as reporter and editor on the old Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

Theft Gang Traced

CINCINNATI (AP) — County police say they have tracked down at least 24 youths and probably more are involved in thefts and burglaries in Anderson Twp. Detective Robert Bradford said loot included football equipment from Anderson High School, auto equipment, records and a movie camera.

Akron Slates Project Based On Income Tax

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The City Planning Commission has disclosed a proposed $18 million spending program for Akron between 1966 and 1968. The fate of the program hinges on passage of the proposed one per cent income tax at a special election Aug. 28.

The program calls for $8,518,000 to be spent for improvements on streets, highways and bridges, with the remainder to go for sewer construction, parks and recreation and police, fire and public health improvements.

New York City has more office space within its confines than any other city in the world.

East End Man Loses $10 In 'Pigeon Drop'

One of the oldest confidence games in the world was worked on an East End man Thursday afternoon, but he learned a valuable lesson cheaply — he was flimflammed out of only $10.

When George Pratt, 710 Central Ave., began to relate the details of his experience with two strangers, police recognized it as the oldest of the well-known swindles — the "pigeon drop."

Pratt, a millworker, told police he was standing on E. 5th St. about 1 p. m. when two strangers approached and pressed a thick bundle of bills into his hand, asking him to hold the money briefly for safe - keeping while they went on another errand.

Wrapped in a handkerchief, he saw what appeared to be several thousand dollars in bills. Pratt turned over to the two strangers the $10 they asked as a guarantee he would not abscond with their "money."

When the two failed to return, Pratt went to police headquarters with the big wad of bills. It proved to be a child's play money, about the same size as conventional currency. The vague glimpse he got of the printing through the white handkerchief made it appear to be real money, Pratt related.

Police found a huge wad of the play money in denominations ranging from $5,000 to $50,000. On the face in letters almost an inch high were the words "Play Money" and "Not Negotiable."

Before it was placed in the handkerchief, the phony money had been folded once lengthwise and then held in place with cellophane tape, police said. The wad was nearly an inch thick.

Police immediately scoured the area, but there was no sign of the two confidence men.

Pratt said one was about 24, stood about 5 feet 6 and was of heavy build. He was wearing brown trousers and a green sweater. The other was about 30, stood about 5 feet 10 inches and was of slender build. He wore a dark shirt, Pratt said.

Insects do not have lungs, and do not breathe through their mouths. Their air is drawn in through minute holes or spiracles in their body segments, and oxygen is carried to all parts of their bodies through intricate systems of branching tubes.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Two years ago my parents got a divorce. I didn't understand what was happening. All I knew was my Dad didn't come home anymore. When I asked my mother where Daddy was she told me he was a terrible man and she wouldn't let him live in the house with us.

Now I am 13 years old and I know more but it doesn't make me feel any better. When I am with my friends and they talk about their parents I get a lump in my throat. A girl who is new in the crowd asked me why I never mentioned my father. I told her he and my mother were divorced. She wanted to know if it hurt when I talk about him. I lied and said no.

Right now I'd settle for any kind of a father so long as I could have one.

When I get married I am going to make my husband sign a paper saying he will never divorce me so long as we have children. I will put up with anything for their sake. — OLD FOR MY YEARS.

Dear Old For Your Years: Thank you for your fine letter. All people who marry sign a paper promising to stay together till death parts them. But sometimes they forget their promise when things get rough. Most people who get divorced go on to make bigger and bigger messes of their lives. They seldom do better. Usually they do worse. Then they wish they had their first set of troubles back.

This is why I constantly urge young people to use their heads before they jump into marriage. Marriage is not for kids and it should mean forever.

Brassy Neighbor

Dear Ann: Recently I discovered this passage in the Bible: Proverbs 25:17: "Let your foot be seldom in your neighbor's house lest he become weary of you and hate you."

How I wish my neighbor would read this and take heed. Whenever she sees a light on in my living room she rushes across the street—always "just for a minute"—but her minutes run into hours. She rattles me something terrible when I am trying to get supper on the table. More than once when my husband has come home from work and seen her sitting here he has walked out, as if it were my fault.

If we didn't own this property I would move just to get away from this pest. Is there any other way out?—TORMENTED.

Dear Tor: You must be a new reader. This problem is so old I have to shave it to print it.

People who permit themselves to be imposed upon by brassy neighbors and relatives are stupid. One simple sentence can dispose of the problem. Sample: "I'm sorry, but I can't visit with you right now because I am terrible busy."

Disagrees With Ann

Dear Ann: Not long ago you had a letter in your column from a woman whose husband was a cold fish. You said a wife who is married to a reticent male ought to turn on the heat.

I disagree with you. You are always telling women they should iron the bedsheets and to make home a pleasant place for a man. I agree with you to a certain extent, but I think you go too far when you say a woman should be aggressive and woo her husband if he doesn't show any romantic interest in her.

I believe it is a woman's right to be wooed. She loses her femininity when she initiates lovemaking. How can a man respect a woman who is brazen and shameless? Believe me, if my husband waited for me to make the first move he'd wait an awful long time—SALINAS

-:-

Dear Salinas: Don't be so stubborn, Honeybun. While he's waiting, so are you. There's nothing brazen about a married woman making her husband feel that he is exciting and irresistible.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Fall At Home Injures Smithfield St. Woman

Mrs. Gladys Blondell, 57, of 1825 Smithfield St. was admitted to City Hospital about noon Thursday with an injury of the right hip suffered in a fall off a small ladder in the kitchen of her home, police reported.

Patrolman Orin C. Smith was dispatched to the North Side home after Harry E. Early, 1830 Smithfield St., telephoned to report the mishap. An ambulance was summoned to take Mrs. Blondell to the hospital, where she was X-rayed and admitted for observation. She suffered a contusion of the hip and her condition is "good," the hospital said.

Early told Officer Smith he was painting the outside of his home when he heard Mrs. Blondell's screams for help. He said he found her crawling from the kitchen to the diningroom of the home. He placed her on a couch to await arrival of the officer and the ambulance.

Liner Brings Record Tourist Load To U.S.

NEW YORK (AP)—What was termed the biggest single load of U.S.-bound tourists in history arrived here Thursday aboard the luxury liner Canberra.

The ship carried 1,622 passengers from Britain and various European countries. They'll take in the sights here, and many will travel to Washington, Niagara Falls, Boston and other points.

Lucas County Begins Gambling Crackdown

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A drive on gambling devices opened by Lucas County Prosecutor Harry Friberg has netted 20 pinball machines in six area diners.

Friberg asked Common Pleas Court to padlock the diners for a year and warned other operators to get the devices off their premises within 24 hours. He said about 60 pinball machines were being operated in 25 establishments in the county — all outside Toledo which bans the machines.

The prosecutor's action came Thursday after the grand jury returned six secret indictments against three corporations and nine individuals for exhibiting gambling devices.

School Figure Quits

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP)—Joseph H. Steele Jr. has resigned as Goshen School Board president in the wake of a Common Pleas Court ruling for reinstatement of Robert E. Gower as superintendent. Steele's action Thursday came a day after Judge Louis Schneider held for Gower in a dispute with the board over how Gower carried out board rules.

Dear Ann Landers: Two years ago my parents got a divorce. I didn't understand what was happening. All I knew was my Dad didn't come home anymore. When I asked my mother where Daddy was she told me he was a terrible man and she wouldn't let him live in the house with us.

Now I am 13 years old and I know more but it doesn't make me feel any better. When I am with my friends and they talk about their parents I get a lump in my throat. A girl who is new in the crowd asked me why I never mentioned my father. I told her he and my mother were divorced. She wanted to know if it hurt when I talk about him. I lied and said no.

Right now I'd settle for any kind of a father so long as I could have one.

When I get married I am going to make my husband sign a paper saying he will never divorce me so long as we have children. I will put up with anything for their sake. — OLD FOR MY YEARS.

Dear Old For Your Years: Thank you for your fine letter. All people who marry sign a paper promising to stay together till death parts them. But sometimes they forget their promise when things get rough. Most people who get divorced go on to make bigger and bigger messes of their lives. They seldom do better. Usually they do worse. Then they wish they had their first set of troubles back.

This is why I constantly urge young people to use their heads before they jump into marriage. Marriage is not for kids and it should mean forever.

Brassy Neighbor

Dear Ann: Recently I discovered this passage in the Bible: Proverbs 25:17: "Let your foot be seldom in your neighbor's house lest he become weary of you and hate you."

How I wish my neighbor would read this and take heed. Whenever she sees a light on in my living room she rushes across the street—always "just for a minute"—but her minutes run into hours. She rattles me something terrible when I am trying to get supper on the table. More than once when my husband has come home from work and seen her sitting here he has walked out, as if it were my fault.

If we didn't own this property I would move just to get away from this pest. Is there any other way out?—TORMENTED.

Dear Tor: You must be a new reader. This problem is so old I have to shave it to print it.

People who permit themselves to be imposed upon by brassy neighbors and relatives are stupid. One simple sentence can dispose of the problem. Sample: "I'm sorry, but I can't visit with you right now because I am terrible busy."

Disagrees With Ann

Dear Ann: Not long ago you had a letter in your column from a woman whose husband was a cold fish. You said a wife who is married to a reticent male ought to turn on the heat.

I disagree with you. You are always telling women they should iron the bedsheets and to make home a pleasant place for a man. I agree with you to a certain extent, but I think you go too far when you say a woman should be aggressive and woo her husband if he doesn't show any romantic interest in her.

I believe it is a woman's right to be wooed. She loses her femininity when she initiates lovemaking. How can a man respect a woman who is brazen and shameless? Believe me, if my husband waited for me to make the first move he'd wait an awful long time—SALINAS

-:-

Dear Salinas: Don't be so stubborn, Honeybun. While he's waiting, so are you. There's nothing brazen about a married woman making her husband feel that he is exciting and irresistible.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Fall At Home Injures Smithfield St. Woman

Mrs. Gladys Blondell, 57, of 1825 Smithfield St. was admitted to City Hospital about noon Thursday with an injury of the right hip suffered in a fall off a small ladder in the kitchen of her home, police reported.

Patrolman Orin C. Smith was dispatched to the North Side home after Harry E. Early, 1830 Smithfield St., telephoned to report the mishap. An ambulance was summoned to take Mrs. Blondell to the hospital, where she was X-rayed and admitted for observation. She suffered a contusion of the hip and her condition is "good," the hospital said.

Early told Officer Smith he was painting the outside of his home when he heard Mrs. Blondell's screams for help. He said he found her crawling from the kitchen to the diningroom of the home. He placed her on a couch to await arrival of the officer and the ambulance.

Lucas County Begins Gambling Crackdown

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A drive on gambling devices opened by Lucas County Prosecutor Harry Friberg has netted 20 pinball machines in six area diners.

Friberg asked Common Pleas Court to padlock the diners for a year and warned other operators to get the devices off their premises within 24 hours. He said about 60 pinball machines were being operated in 25 establishments in the county — all outside Toledo which bans the machines.

The prosecutor's action came Thursday after the grand jury returned six secret indictments against three corporations and nine individuals for exhibiting gambling devices.

School Figure Quits

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP)—Joseph H. Steele Jr. has resigned as Goshen School Board president in the wake of a Common Pleas Court ruling for reinstatement of Robert E. Gower as superintendent. Steele's action Thursday came a day after Judge Louis Schneider held for Gower in a dispute with the board over how Gower carried out board rules.

Estes' 'Man Friday' Being Hunted By FBI

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators have set the FBI to work on an Agriculture Department memo Sen. Karl E. Mundt says shows Billie Sol Estes "secretly had a Man Friday doing his bidding in the department."

The man exercised considerable authority and must be identified, said Mundt, a South Dakota Republican.

His statements came Thursday after Joseph A. Moss, head of the department's cotton division, told the Senate Investigations subcommittee about the memo. The subcommittee now wants the FBI to find out who issued it.

Moss said the memo urged permanent validation of Estes' cotton allotment deals, now under investigation by the subcommittee of which Mundt is the senior Republican member.

The recommendation to recognize as legal Estes' 1961 cotton allotment transfers and allow them to stand for 1962 got nowhere. Instead, the department declared the deals illegal, fined the Pecos, Tex., promoter $554,000 for his 1961 manipulations and refused to withdraw an additional fine of nearly $50,000 on his 1962 allotment juggling.

Estes has been declared bankrupt and awaits trial on fraud and theft charges.

The subcommittee's staff asked the FBI to try to identify both the typewriter on which the memo was typed and the author of a scribbled notation on the face of the only known remaining copy in an effort to pin down positively who had issued the memo.

Moss testified he helped Emery A. Jacobs, then deputy administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, draft the memo last January.

Jacobs resigned in April after his name came up in a Texas court of inquiry studying Estes' operations. The 54-year-old Jacobs denied any wrongdoing in his letter of resignation.

Defrocked Priest Sues For Divorce

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Defrocked priest Walter Ryan, 57, whose departure from his New York state home seven years ago prompted a $2.3 million suit brought by his wife, Alice, against the Catholic Church, sued her for divorce Thursday.

He accused his attractive, 41-year-old wife of adultery, desertion and cruelty. Ryan married her in Baptist rites in Maryland 12 years ago under the assumed occupation of free lance writer. Shortly thereafter he left the church and became a real estate salesman.

Her suit in March of this year started a nationwide search that lasted two days. Ryan revealed his whereabouts in San Francisco then to deny her charges.

She claimed he fathered her fourth daughter while on a brief visit to their Glen Head, N.Y., home in 1956, but a San Francisco Superior Court rejected her assertion in a June hearing.

She said in her suit against the church that Ryan was abducted, given liquor and shifted around to various monasteries in different states.This was denied by both Ryan and church officials.

Ryan said in the divorce suit that he left his wife in 1955 because his wife "inflicted a course of extreme cruelty which necessitated his departure from the family dwelling place."

Ryan claims in the suit that Mrs. Ryan's fourth daughter was a result of adultery with an unnamed and unknown man.

West Virginia Gas Firm Reduces Rates

The fifth temporary rate reduction in the past 16 months went into effect today for 48,500 West Virginia customers of the Manufacturers Light & Heat Co.

Lowering gas consumers' rates by 3½ mills per 1,000 cubic feet, the new reduction extends through Aug. 4, 1963. The firm serves Hancock County.

The five refunds total $623,000. They pass on to West Virginia customers refunds made to Manufacturers by the pipeline suppliers for gas deliveries in earlier years.

Estes' 'Man Friday' Being Hunted By FBI

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators have set the FBI to work on an Agriculture Department memo Sen. Karl E. Mundt says shows Billie Sol Estes "secretly had a Man Friday doing his bidding in the department."

The man exercised considerable authority and must be identified, said Mundt, a South Dakota Republican.

His statements came Thursday after Joseph A. Moss, head of the department's cotton division, told the Senate Investigations subcommittee about the memo. The subcommittee now wants the FBI to find out who issued it.

Moss said the memo urged permanent validation of Estes' cotton allotment deals, now under investigation by the subcommittee of which Mundt is the senior Republican member.

The recommendation to recognize as legal Estes' 1961 cotton allotment transfers and allow them to stand for 1962 got nowhere. Instead, the department declared the deals illegal, fined the Pecos, Tex., promoter $554,000 for his 1961 manipulations and refused to withdraw an additional fine of nearly $50,000 on his 1962 allotment juggling.

Estes has been declared bankrupt and awaits trial on fraud and theft charges.

The subcommittee's staff asked the FBI to try to identify both the typewriter on which the memo was typed and the author of a scribbled notation on the face of the only known remaining copy in an effort to pin down positively who had issued the memo.

Moss testified he helped Emery A. Jacobs, then deputy administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, draft the memo last January.

Jacobs resigned in April after his name came up in a Texas court of inquiry studying Estes' operations. The 54-year-old Jacobs denied any wrongdoing in his letter of resignation.

Defrocked Priest Sues For Divorce

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Defrocked priest Walter Ryan, 57, whose departure from his New York state home seven years ago prompted a $2.3 million suit brought by his wife, Alice, against the Catholic Church, sued her for divorce Thursday.

He accused his attractive, 41-year-old wife of adultery, desertion and cruelty. Ryan married her in Baptist rites in Maryland 12 years ago under the assumed occupation of free lance writer. Shortly thereafter he left the church and became a real estate salesman.

Her suit in March of this year started a nationwide search that lasted two days. Ryan revealed his whereabouts in San Francisco then to deny her charges.

She claimed he fathered her fourth daughter while on a brief visit to their Glen Head, N.Y., home in 1956, but a San Francisco Superior Court rejected her assertion in a June hearing.

She said in her suit against the church that Ryan was abducted, given liquor and shifted around to various monasteries in different states.This was denied by both Ryan and church officials.

Ryan said in the divorce suit that he left his wife in 1955 because his wife "inflicted a course of extreme cruelty which necessitated his departure from the family dwelling place."

Ryan claims in the suit that Mrs. Ryan's fourth daughter was a result of adultery with an unnamed and unknown man.

West Virginia Gas Firm Reduces Rates

The fifth temporary rate reduction in the past 16 months went into effect today for 48,500 West Virginia customers of the Manufacturers Light & Heat Co.

Lowering gas consumers' rates by 3½ mills per 1,000 cubic feet, the new reduction extends through Aug. 4, 1963. The firm serves Hancock County.

The five refunds total $623,000. They pass on to West Virginia customers refunds made to Manufacturers by the pipeline suppliers for gas deliveries in earlier years.

2 IN MEMORIAM

IN loving memory of our dear Husband and Father, Frank Cashdollar, who passed away 5 years ago today.
Just a thought of sweet remembrance, Just a memory fond and true, Just a token of affection and a heartache still for you, The rolling stream of life rolls on; but still the vacant chair, We recall the love, the voice and the smile of the one who sat there. We miss you more each day.

QUESTION: What is a meteor?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: It's a wonderful sight to see a "shooting star" dash across the night sky and vanish before one can point it out to one's friend. Shooting stars, or meteors, are small pieces of stone or metal which hurl down to earth from space. These objects are a part of our solar system and ordinarily are invisible. When one gets close enough to the earth to be affected by gravity, it whizzes down (A). When it enters the atmosphere about 65 or 75 miles up, the meteor, traveling at tremendous speed, becomes so heated by friction with the air that it turns white hot (B,C). Its trail when white hot is what you see. Most meteors burn up before they hit the earth (D), which is fortunate for us, as millions enter the earth's atmosphere every day. When a meteor is so large that some of it is left when it hits the earth, it is called a meteorite. Many meteorites have been preserved. There is a famous one in the Museum of Natural History, New York, weighing 15½ tons.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Showers of meteors, some of which are fragments of comets, occur every year. Watch the night sky this year on July 29, August 12, October 22, November 1, 16 and 17 and December 12.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: When mending a knitted garment . . . place the torn portion over the bristles of a hairbrush. This will prevent the yarn from stretching while you mend it. So easy too.

I also use a corn-pad placed on the lower edge of my doors to stop them from rattling. This will also quiet a noisy window.

ESTHER CRUZ

Silver Lining

DEAR HELOISE: After trying all of the suggestions for removing stains from my plastic dinnerware, without results, I decided to try paste-type silver polish. It works just beautifully. It takes a little elbow grease, but you can do the silverware at the same time! Have hot dishwater ready and put both through and then use a hot rinse. All done!

I also found that old toothbrushes are the greatest little scrubbers for those hard to get-at places—faucets in the kitchen and bathroom sinks.

MRS. ERNEST J. RUPP

Taste Trick

DEAR HELOISE: Here is a neat trick for those who want a new taste in hamburger and meatloaf. For each two pounds of ground hamburger meat, add one can of tomato aspic! For the hamburger, no egg is necessary.

For the meatloaf add your eggs and other condiments as usual.

SECRETARY

-:-

Tried this, last weekend and it's really different. Use a little less liquid in the mixture as the aspic suffices for some of it.

HELOISE

Pickles Last

DEAR HELOISE: Here is another way to save. Large cucumber pickles will last twice as long and cost half as much as bottled pickles . . . if they are sliced wafer thin on your fruit slicer. After I slice these, I put them in a mild solution of vinegar and water and seal them in a jar.

I keep an old kitchen cup near my washing machine. Most cups hold approximately one cup by measure. Measure your soap first, then bleach. Excellent for starch too.

JOAN MAGUIRE

DEAR HELOISE: I keep a large fluffy powder puff in my flour cannister to dust my cake pans with. It works fine.

I have a friend with three growing boys. She hands the clothes down from one to another. Because the children are so close to the same size, the clothes had to be marked. The oldest one got an X on his clothes. The second tot got two XX's and the smaller one had three XXX's. As the older one got throuth his clothes, the mother just added another X to make ownership positive. This should work on little girls' dresses, slips, etc., too.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Ex-Smokers Can Avoid Weight Gain

So everybody you talk with warns that you will gain weight now that you have stopped smoking. Don't you believe it! Food doesn't get more fattening, and a weight gain is not inevitable.

Ida Jean Kain

What happens is that your taste buds sharpen and you enjoy food more. Fine, but don't fall into the trap of enjoying more food. Also, smoking gives oral satisfaction.

In breaking the habit it's natural to turn to another habit that gives a like satisfaction. You can take measures to deal intelligently with both the keener appetite and the habit substitution.

Take a tip from one trim ex-smoker: The day she decided to give up smoking, she weighed in on a penny scales, and saved the dated weight ticket.

THERE IT WAS for the record. She kept bi-weekly weight tickets until she knew she had the smoking habit licked without piling on unwanted pounds.

Attitude is all important. William James, that giant intellect, left us this gem of wisdom: "Our belief at the beginning of a doubtful undertaking is the one thing that assures the successful outcome of our venture."

"Believe that you can do it and you can! Action stems from attitude. Take the attitude that you can stop smoking without gaining weight and you will act accordingly.

As everyone knows, tensions too must be reckoned with. That practical philosopher, Elbert Hubbard, shared a secret which, as he pointed out, you may not know you know. "Let motion equal emotion." He took this principle straight from nature. Nothing is static. It takes action to apply this philosophy — walk off your tensions — swim off your tensions. Start a project.

Snacks are a help, but don't get the notion that you must be putting something into your mouth, for this is only a crutch. The time to take a purposeful pick - up is in the late afternoon, at the well-known zero hour. Do not eat candy or sweets, for this leads to a hunger re-bound.

Let it be a protein pick-up. Have an ounce wedge of cheese with a cup of tea, or a hard cooked egg, or for homemakers, celery stuffed with cottage cheese, or a left over slice of meat.

It will help you to know that only the first three weeks are rough going. A good breakfast can save the day. The winning trick is to use foods high in satiety but moderate in calories, both at meals and in snacks.

Have a generous portion of lean meat, seafood or chicken; a potato or a slice of bread with spread, but no seconds on starch.

CHOOSE YOUR favorite vegetables and salad for needed bulk. Have French Dressing on salad, one tablespoon. Eat slowly and savor every forkful of food. Stick to fruit or cheese for dessert. Your keener appetite need not lead to a bigger appetite, or a weight gain.

And now, your dietitian is off on vacation. I'll be back on Labor Day. In the meantime, happy slimming.

Send a stamped, self - addressed, long envelope for "Choose To Lose Diet." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of The Review. Post card requests cannot be answered.

Miss Schroeder Cites City's Need For TB Testing

Because the percentage of tuberculosis cases is higher in East Liverpool than elsewhere in Columbiana County, the need for more tuberculin testing is greater, Miss Lillian Schroeder of Salem, secretary of the Public Health League, told the Kiwanis Club Thursday afternoon at the Travelers Hotel.

More tuberculin testing can be accomplished through the schools, service clubs and other organizations than by X-ray, she said.

The East End area in particular needs to be tested because of known cases developed there, she said, explaining a positive reaction was found last week in a 15-year-old East End student.

A man jailed here recently also was found to be a carrier of the lung disease, Miss Schroeder pointed out.

The league secretary said 17 students in one sixth grade class in Stark County are under surveillance because authorities found the teacher was a carrier.

The league has $5,000 available for City Hospital to use in a tuberculosis control program, she added.

She was introduced by Paul Blair, president, who also is a member of the league's board. Norman Nicely was program chairman.
